Hoffman Hesitates Over Reprieve For Hauptmann

ASK SUPREME COURT FOR DECISION

Defense Attorneys On Way To Capital As Executive Waits

By DALE HARRISON

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 15.—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman announced through his press aide today that he was still studying the Hauptmann case and was undecided on the matter of a reprieve.

His comment came as two defense lawyers, a paper signed by Bruno Richard Hauptmann in their pocket, sped to Washington intent, it was understood, upon instituting habeas corpus proceedings in the United States supreme court or before a supreme court justice to prevent Hauptmann's execution Friday night.

Requests Denied
A similar request as well as a request for a stay of execution was denied yesterday by Federal Circuit Judge Warren Davis.

William S. Conklin, speaking for the governor, said Mr. Hoffmann was conducting his private investigation, and was seeking legal advice upon his power to reprieve at this late date.

Questions Answered
Questions put to the governor and answers as given out by Conklin, follow:

"1. Are you going to reprieve Hauptmann? A. I have made no decision.

"2. Would you feel it mandatory upon you to stay the execution should proceedings be pending in the courts the day of the execution? A. Not necessarily, unless orders should issue from the court.

"3. Will there be an announcement today on whether to grant the reprieve? A. When an announcement is made it will be made to the newspapers at the state house." (Conklin added that the governor is seeking legal advice on a reprieve.)

"4. Are you continuing your independent study of the case? A. Yes.

"5. Would you grant a reprieve in the event Hauptmann should confess? (There was no answer to this question.)

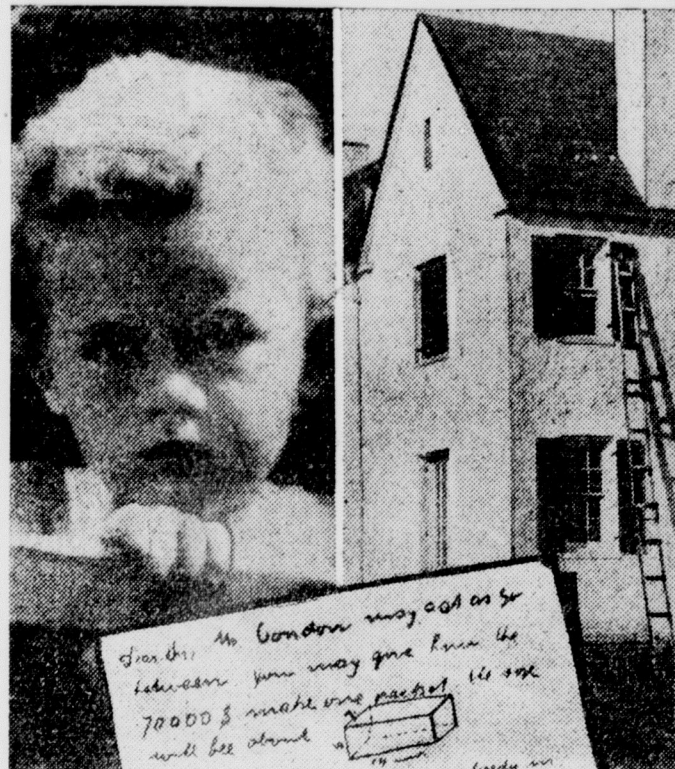

Hauptmann Signs

Hauptmann's attorneys, visiting him in the death house at noon, obtained his signature to a paper the exact nature of which they did not disclose but which was understood to be needed in an application to the United States (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

BODIES BADLY BROKEN BY SMASHUP

Only Four Of Victims Identified; Cause Of Wreck Unknown

By ED L. CAMPBELL

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
GOODWIN, Ark., Jan. 15.—Remnants of 17 bodies—victims of America's most disastrous airplane accident—were recovered today from Arkansas marsh country where they crashed to death last night in the luxurious American Air Liner "Southern," transcontinental ship.

There were no survivors. Coroner J. C. Crawford held that the 14 passengers and crew of three—12 men, four women and a child—died "by accidental airplane crash."

Cause Unknown
A department of commerce official predicted the cause of the disaster probably never would be known.

The last of the bodies was brought out of the swampland at 8:45 a. m. (6:45 a. m. Santa Ana time) on flatbed wagons drawn by mules struggling in deep mud.

The broken bodies were removed to Memphis for a perhaps hopeless attempt at identification.

Four Identified

Although all the dead were known, only four bodies had been identified, hours after the big twin motored ship fell.

These were Mrs. Samuel Horvitz, 38; her 4-year-old son, Seba, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. B. Horvitz, all of Wakefield, Mass., and Miss Perla Gasparini, 23, of Fort Worth, Texas.

Frank Thompson, Memphis funeral director, said further efforts of officials at identification would be useless.

"Relatives will have to pick their own dead," he said.

Kin of the victims—14 passengers and the crew of three—were hurrying to Memphis from various parts of the country today to take up this gruesome task.

Bodies Strewn

Rescue workers, who found bodies strewn over an area 400 yards long and about 75 yards wide in a water-filled bog, left the wreckage as it was for a study by Jack James, Fort Worth division airline inspector for the department of commerce.

The liner crashed early last night on the Memphis-Little Rock hop of the regular New York-Los Angeles flight. Searching parties did not locate (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Habitual Traffic Offenders Will Be Kept Off Highways In This County, Says Meehan

Drastic steps will be taken to keep habitual traffic violators off the public highways in Orange county, Capt. Henry C. Meehan of the California highway patrol, announced today.

Lists of those classified as "habitual" offenders will be furnished the Santa Ana offices of the patrol, and each officer will be provided with a list, he announced.

"They are classified as the motorist's public enemy No. 1," Captain Meehan said. "Sacramento offices are listing them at present, and since they are considered one of the most dangerous types of autoists, drastic steps will be taken to keep them off the highways."

Under instructions from Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles, department files are being combed for consecutive traffic law violators, and stop cards are being sent up to revoke all licenses of all persons determined to be habitual offenders against the vehicle codes. In addition to immediate action to revoke licenses, the department will tag those autoists whose records indicate they are prospective habitual violators. Such prospects, according to word from Mr. Ingels, will be served with sealed warnings stating that further violations will result in revocation of licenses.

"Powers invested by the new vehicle code make it possible to take more drastic action against persons who continuously speed, drive recklessly, or break parking laws," Mr. Ingels stated. "We intend to go the limit in removing these types of motorists from our highways."

Auditor Given Prison Term
VENTURA, Jan. 15. (AP)—Kenneth S. Oliver, 41, convicted of misappropriating public funds while he was Ventura county auditor, starts serving a term of 1 to 10 years in San Quentin prison today.

Yesterday he was arrested, questioned and arraigned. After he had pleaded guilty, he was sentenced, succeeded in office by Chief Deputy Auditor J. Hyde Chaffee, and started for prison by automobile.

BORAH BACKED IN MINNESOTA
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota today announced that Senator Borah of Idaho had given him permission to place his name before Minnesotans as a candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

JURY QUIZZES MORE TODAY

County Officials And Witnesses For Whitney Others Are Called For Testimony

The grand jury had a field day today.

Using a "scatter gun" method, it brought in a variety of witnesses, most of whom are county officials.

Ray Crenshaw, who has been auditor for the grand jury for several years, not including this year, was another witness. Mr. Crenshaw was grand jury auditor during part of the time in which County Recorder Justine Whitney is accused of irregularities in filing her reports with the county auditor.

Faces Two Actions
An indictment charging misappropriation of funds has been filed against her by the present grand jury. Ouster proceedings also have been started against her.

Whether the calling of county officials today had any connection with Miss Whitney's case was not divulged, but it was reported that their testimony dealt with routine matters.

Members of the board of supervisors were among those called to testify. County Clerk J. M. Backs (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

SUBPOENA 26 TO TESTIFY

County Officials And Witnesses For Whitney Ouster Case Trial Are Announced

Subpoenas were being served today on 26 witnesses to appear in superior court Jan. 27 and testify in the ouster proceedings against County Recorder Justine Whitney.

County officials, county employees and title company employees were among the witnesses. Deputy Sheriff John Ryan was serving the subpoenas.

The case to be tried Jan. 27 is a civil matter in which the grand jury is seeking to have Miss Whitney removed from office. The accusation against her charges that she was late in filing her monthly returns with the auditor and that she used funds for one month in making deposits with the treasurer for the preceding one.

Other Case Feb. 7
An indictment also has been filed by the grand jury accusing Miss Whitney of misappropriating county funds. She is scheduled to answer this criminal charge Feb. 7.

The list of witnesses being subpoenaed today includes practically all the employees in Miss Whitney's office. Others subpoenaed are John L. Hall, auditor for the grand jury; Hannah Douglas of the Orange County Title company; R. A. Kloess, Abstract and Title (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

SRA STAFF TO BE CUT AGAIN

Further reductions in the Orange county state relief administration staff on Friday will cut administrative forces of the relief agency to 70, Director Terrence Halloran announced today.

The original order for force reduction, received a week ago, was to 85. The second order was made necessary by a shortage of state funds for handling of relief work.

The administrative force of the agency originally numbered 226.

Transfer of "unemployables" from state relief rolls will begin about March 1, it was announced. The general plan is to maintain SRA only as a direct relief agency for those whose distress is caused primarily by unemployment.

JAPAN LEAVES NAVAL PARLEY

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Japanese delegates tonight announced their withdrawal from the international naval conference.

Their decision, signifying the end of five-power discussions seeking to effect an agreement on naval limitation to replace the expiring Washington and London treaties, was announced following a "showdown" session of the conference.

The discussion have been deadlocked on a Japanese demand for fleet equality and a "common upper limit" of tonnage.

McAdoo Would Spike Guns Of Democratic Enemies in California Party Split-Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Senator William Gibbs McAdoo sought today to spike the guns of his rivals within the Democratic party in California.

The senator, who also is national committeeman, moved to force adjournment, immediately after convening, of a meeting of the Democratic state central committee called for Friday in Los Angeles by State Chairman Culbert L. Olson to write a slate of national convention delegates.

A line on the senator's plans was revealed last night when he said in a formal statement he thought it "would be best" to adjourn the Friday session "without action."

Not long thereafter it became known elsewhere on Capitol Hill that McAdoo had asked all members of the state's central committee in Washington for their proxies for the purpose of adjourning the committee meeting as soon as it is called to order by Olson. Members in California were understood to have received a like request.

California Democratic circles here believed that with a sufficient number of proxies, the senator would be in position to head off, at least for the present, reported plans for the Epic group to send a delegation to the Philadelphia convention pledged to support a "production for use" plank in the national platform.

He termed Olson's call for the meeting "not only inopportune but unavailing under California law," because, he said, the central committee "has no power whatever" to select a national convention slate.

One Capitol Hill authority termed it a "pretty good bet" that Mr. Roosevelt would sign the measure. Another close to the White House advised taking such bets.

The President himself was saying nothing.

Preferring not to be quoted by name, the same official who considered presidential signing a good bet, also predicted the senate would pass the bill this week with only 18 votes or less in opposition.

Provided all senators vote, this would be more than a four to one margin for the senate's coalition substitute for the house bill.

BOGOTA, Columbia, Jan. 15. (AP) Unofficial sources reported today that a military tri-motored plane carrying 14 passengers was missing on a flight from Puerto Boy to Bogota.

MOTHER KILLS 3 CHILDREN

WESTCHESTER, Pa., Jan. 15. (AP)—A deranged mother beat her three children to death here early today and then tried to commit suicide by slashing her throat. She is Mrs. Joseph Oberle, wife of the Chester county farm extension association head. The children were Mary, 17, Louise, 9, and Joseph, 7. The children had been beaten with a club while they slept.

CRASH SETS DEATH RECORD

Recall San Clemente Wreck

Seventeen persons were killed last night in the crash of an airliner near Goodwin, Ark., but previous to that, Santa Anas recalled today, the "record" for the most tragic airplane crash belonged to Southern California.

On the night of Jan. 19, 1930, 16 persons were killed when a tri-motored Maddux airliner crashed and burned six miles south of San Clemente. The plane was en route from Agua Caliente to Los Angeles. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was in San Diego with his wife at the time, assisted department of commerce officials in making an investigation. Basil Russell and Fred Walker, both of Los Angeles, were co-pilots of the tragedy ship.

ASSAULT BY ELECTRICITY

Seek Waitress Case Suspect

For probably the first time, electricity was mentioned as a means of assault today in a complaint issued by the office of District Attorney W. F. Menton.

Helen Knowles, employe of Bob's Place on 101 highway, told Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis of the unusual attack upon herself by means of electricity. She said that on Jan. 12 she served meals to three men in a parked car at Bob's Place. She attached an aluminum tray to the car door.

When she returned and picked up the tray she sustained an electric shock. She lurched away from the car and staggered toward the cafe door. Before reaching it, she fell to the ground. She said the men in the car laughed and drove away.

License numbers of cars stopping at the cafe always are secured. The number of this car was traced through the state motor vehicle department. Mr. Davis said it was found to be registered to Lonnie McManners, Route 1, Box 438, Riverside. A search is being made for Mr. McManners, named in a complaint charging assault and battery, and for his two companions.

BRITISH CABINET CHARTS NEW SANCTIONS AGAINST ITALIANS

ITALY CLAIMS VICTORY IN ETHIOPIA

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Great Britain's full cabinet met for an hour and a half today, charting the empire's course as to possible new League of Nations sanctions against Italy.

Several of the ministers, including Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade and Alfred Duff Cooper, the secretary of war, returned later to No. 10 Downing street for a further conference with Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin.

Fix Instructions

The cabinet meeting was called to adopt final instructions which Eden will take to the league council meeting at Geneva next Monday.

It was expected he would pursue a "waiting policy" at the Geneva meeting, neither withdrawing from previous support of league principles nor attempting to force the pace in new measures.

Meanwhile Italy claimed that her southern armies had crushed a gathering Ethiopian drive on the Dolo front, "repulsing and pursuing" the enemy.

A communique from Marshal Pietro Badoglio, the Italian high commander in Africa, said the Somaliland forces had driven back the armies of Ras Desta Dementi in a "vigorous action," but added:

"Fighting continues along the entire front. Our losses so far have not been serious."

Nothing was said about Ethiopian losses.

Nations Protest

A third nation dispatched a formal protest to Italy for Fascist bombings in Ethiopian aerial attacks when the Swedish minister presented a note at Rome.

The Swedish government, following the examples of Emperor Haile Selassie and the Egyptian government, charged the bombing at Dessye Dec. 30 was a direct attack on a Red Cross ambulance. One Swedish subject was fatally injured and another wounded.

Persons responsible for the air raid are expected to be taken to account, Sweden told Italy after rejecting a Fascist declaration the assault was in reprisal for Ethiopian violation of international laws of war.

MORE ABOUT PLANE CRASH

The wreckage until midnight, finding plane and bodies torn to bits as the big liner settled down over a woodland, then crashed through a dense growth of trees in the midst of the swamp.

Mr. Crawford, aged, crippled coroner of St. Francis county, was carried through the swamp on a stretcher through the swamps to the scene before dawn to hold an inquest.

Use Lantern

He was held aloft by four men, standing deep in water, as he examined the bodies, heard two farmers who said they saw the plane fall, and made notes in a small book by the light of lanterns.

One shaky farm wagon, drawn by two mules, managed to get within 500 yards of the wreckage after bogging down many times. It was used to get the bodies out to the highway, a mile and a quarter away.

Two farmers appeared before Coroner Crawford's swamped inquest to tell of seeing the twin-motored Douglas plane descend into the woods shortly before 7:30 p. m. (central standard time) last night.

Gaylord Dover, Palestine, Ark., testified he was walking along highway 70—Broadway of Arkansas—when he saw the liner flying rather low over the adjacent woods.

Motor "Not Right"
"The motor didn't sound right," he said. "Suddenly, the plane dipped down into the trees. The motor quit, and the ship disappeared."

Glenn Williamson, also of Palestine, said he was reading at his home when he heard "the motor sputter," and looked out a window.

"I saw it dip into the timber and crash," he said.

Lake Littlejohn, air inspector for the department of commerce, said he believed it would be "practically impossible to fix the cause."

Mail Recovered
Postal authorities from Little Rock gathered up what they could of the mail scattered through the woods, after weighing it, said they thought all of it had been recovered.

"We tried to get in with wagons, but they bogged down, so we went into the woods on foot," said M. E. Davis, one of the first to reach the scene.

"About three miles east of Goodwin, we began to find bits of canvas on the ground, then pieces of metal and we knew we were on the right trail."

Trees Torn Up
"We followed these clues and saw where the trees had been torn up and we picked up bits of plane for a distance of 300 yards before we came to the wreck itself. It was slow going, in boggy ground, much of it covered four

STUDY THREE POINT PLAN

The three-point program for 1936 worked out by the vegetable department of the county farm bureau will be up for discussion Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when directors of the department will meet.

The program pledges major effort of the department to improve marketing conditions, as "the most urgent need in the vegetable industry in California," declares the securing of reasonable interpretations and dissemination of information on vegetable standardization and canning regulations to be necessary to the permanency of the industry, and a major department project; and pledges support to a three-fold program in cooperation with the agricultural extension service, including the second annual vegetable institute in February, development of seed variety and fertilizer plots, and pest control, in cooperation with the county agricultural commissioner.

The Thursday meeting also will be given over to a discussion of resolutions and recommendations to be presented at the county farm convention, Jan. 20 and 21. Members of the board of directors include R. J. Mitchell, chairman; A. D. Sandoval, vice chairman; Walter Schmidt, C. J. Cogan, Lawrence Koks, William Greeley, A. W. Lindley, Clarence Brown and George Lemke.

or five feet deep with swamp water.

"I saw we reached the wreckage, but what it amounted to was finding the larger pieces of the plane with our flashlights. The wings were gone, torn to pieces, the motors were there in the mud, but buried in the ground."

"The plane and the bodies were scattered all over the place, most of the bodies being near the motors."

"I looked to me that the plane had come down and levelled off at the treetops, then got into the trees and kept right on going as long as it could through the trees."

Finds Child's Shoes
"I understand there was a child on the ship. I found the child's shoes, near the motor, but not the body."

"There was baggage and mail scattered all over the place. The cabin on the plane was gone, just one side wall standing. Two bodies near the motor, looked like they might have been pilots."

Among the passengers was W. R. Dyess, works progress administrator for Kansas, and one of his aides, R. H. McNair, Jr., both of Little Rock.

Another was Frank C. Hart, wealthy New Yorker, president of the Hart Products company, recent defendant in a $250,000 damage action brought by Mrs. Florence Hartzel, who charged he assaulted her in a Greenwich village apartment.

The plane left Newark, N. J., yesterday afternoon, bound for Los Angeles.

Gerald V. Marshall, 40, veteran pilot, with the company since 1928, and with 9400 flying hours under his helmet, was in charge of the ship. The co-pilot was Glenn Freeman, former manager of a Joplin, Mo., airport. Miss Perla Gasparini, 23, of Fort Worth, stewardess, completed the crew.

The passenger list given out by the company at Little Rock follows:

Charles Altschul, 340 North Central, Glendale, Calif.

J. C. Cahn, 827 South Rimpau blvd., Los Angeles.

Mrs. S. Horowitz, Mrs. B. Horowitz and Seba Horowitz, all of Waltham road, Boston, Mass.

Two defense lawyers, Nugent Dadds and Neil Burkishaw, took a train for Washington, and indicated that action would be taken tomorrow.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann also visited her husband today—her next to last chance to see the former German machine gunner. Col. Mark Q. Kimberling, prison warden, said tomorrow would be the last day she would be permitted to visit the death cell unless Hauptmann's execution should be delayed by court action or by reprieve.

They asked her if she intended to ask Governor Hoffman for clemency.

"I don't know what is the right thing to do," she said. "I will do everything to help Richard. It might be good to see the governor."

"I am confident and not a bit nervous. Somehow he will seem to have the least fear that he will die Friday night."

"I asked him if he wanted to see the baby, and he said: 'You know what the baby means to me, but I won't see him here. I'll see him somewhere else.'"

But while he was talking so confidently to his wife, prison electricians were testing the electric chair only a few steps from where he sat. They pronounced it ready.

INJURED IN CRASH
Sebastiano Bolterios, 34, San Juan Capistrano, is in the county hospital recovering from severe head injuries and facial lacerations sustained at 5:15 p. m. yesterday in a traffic accident on 101 highway near Irvine. According to a report filed by Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover, Mr. Bolterios was driving south on the highway when the left front tire on his car blew out. He lost control of the machine, which left the road and turned over.

BEGIN FITTS TRIAL FOR PERJURY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15. (AP)—As District Attorney Buron Fitts went to trial on perjury charges today, defense counsel, Jerry Geisler, asked prospective jurors if they had seen or read a pamphlet entitled "So They Indicted Buron Fitts."

The pamphlet purports to be the "inside" story of the case. None of the jurors admitted having read it.

Superior Judge Pat Parker of Mono county told the jurors "you must get it clearly in your heads that Mr. Fitts is here charged simply with perjury and that he is not on trial for anything else."

With his sister-secretary, Mrs. Bertha Gregory, Fitts is accused of giving false testimony before the 1931 grand jury in an investigation of the prosecution of the Hollywood "love mart" case.

Mrs. Gregory's trial is scheduled to follow her brother's.

LYON WILL LEAD DINNER SONGS

John Henry Lyon, nationally famous song-leader, will officiate at the community singing to be held in conjunction with the first annual community dinner Jan. 21.

Mr. Lyon, who is head of the music department of the Pasadena city schools, and who recently led all singing at the national N. E. A. convention, was secured to take the place of Frank Pierce, Santa Ana, who had a prior engagement for that evening.

Ticket reservations for the event were being accepted today from larger business firms of the city, in blocks of 10 to 14. Ticket Chairman John Estes stated.

Service clubs will make reservations this week, and all indications point to an early sell-out for the event, Mr. Estes said.

The Works Progress administration symphony orchestra, under the direction of Leon Eckles, will provide music for the event, it was declared today.

The program will be headlined with the talk by Dr. F. P. Woelner, U. C. L. A.

G.O.P. TO HEAR CALIF. LEADER

Members of the newly organized Orange County Republican Assembly, who will hold charter night at James cafe Jan. 21, will have as their speaker Howard Mills, Los Angeles, Mr. Mills, one of the founders of the Republican Assembly movement in Los Angeles, is treasurer of the California Republican central committee.

Efforts are being made to have Dr. Ralph Roberts of San Diego make the presentation of the charter to the group.

Mr. Roberts is unable to attend, the charter will be presented by Robert Craig, executive secretary of the California Republican Assembly.

Arrangements for the meeting are being made by E. M. Sundquist, secretary of the local organization, who announced reservations for the affair may be made at his office, 312 West Third street, Santa Ana.

EDISON WOMEN VISIT STEAM PLANT

Inspection of the Southern California Edison Company's Long Beach steam plant was the trip taken last night by the Edison Women's committee.

Those who went were the Misses Faye Bortz, Irene Drott, Katherine Logan, Olive Lund, Elizabeth Millen, Virginia Miller, Theresa Nussbaum, Rose Raucher, Dorothy Tiemann, Marjorie Berkner, Anna Tiemann, Gertrude Link and Pauline Riley and Mesdames Mary Belle Adams, Cora McGuire, Willette Reid, Ruth Riley, Ruth Wood and Lucille Breeding.

who acts as clerk of the board, was another witness.

County Auditor W. T. Lambert testified. Mr. Lambert yesterday denied that he is the so-called "mystery man" who is supposed to have loaned Miss Whitney money with which to complete her deposits with the treasurer.

The grand jury indictment mentioned "persons unknown" who were supposed to have secured the money or loaned it to Miss Whitney. Mr. Lambert said yesterday he had not loaned money to Miss Whitney or aided in securing a loan and did not know to whom the grand jury might be referring.

Another witness called was Homer Humphrey, who does tax research work for the Orange County Title Company and the Abstract and Title Insurance Company. Title companies bring in the bulk of the business handled by the recorder's office.

Sisters, Kin Of Judge Allen, Die Few Days Apart

A story of lifelong devotion came to light today when Superior Judge James L. Allen received news of the death of Miss Carrie Allen, his cousin, at Highland, Kas.

Miss Allen and her sister, Hattie, lived together throughout their lives. Judge Allen said today they were never separated from each other more than 15 minutes at a time. So devoted were the two sisters that they even arranged to go to the door together to welcome callers.

On Saturday Miss Hattie Allen passed away. Today Miss Carrie Allen went to join her sister. They are still together, in death.

POWER RATES CUT SOUGHT

Attempts to secure a lowering of power rates for Orange county will receive the support of the public utilities committee of the farm bureau, it was stated yesterday's meeting of the committee, held in the farm bureau offices.

The committee will co-operate in 1936 with similar groups in other parts of the state to effect a reduction, believing that rate schedules offer some possibility of reduction for plants in the county having high load factors, if such schedules could be made optional with the Southern California Edison, which is in Orange county.

N. M. Launer is chairman of the committee in charge of this program, assisted by Earl Crawford, general chairman of the utilities committee. The general utility policies subcommittee, consisting of Ivan Harper and A. H. Heim, will make a study and compile information dealing with factors going into power rates, standby charges and information on present available electric energy and expected available energy, during the next 12 months.

The third subcommittee of the group, announced yesterday, will continue a study of packing house power rates begun in 1931 and revived in 1935, having for its objective the reduction of power costs of citrus packing houses in Orange county. Members of the committee are P. J. Ton and F. H. Gordos.

Officers Seated
Newly elected officers of the exchange seated last night included I. W. McFarlane, president; H. W. Schleuter, first vice-president; Donald Beach Kirby, second vice-president; R. I. Mathews, treasurer, and Franklin E. Smith, secretary.

William J. Tway acted as toastmaster. Maurice Philips, Al Foster, John Lejonde and G. W. Thomas, Jr., presented parts of the musical program. Following dinner there was dancing, with Leon Eckles directing the WPA dance band.

Honor guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Wells, John Hopper, director of the Long Beach exchange, and Charles W. Petter, president of the state exchange. Retiring president Therman Means was presented with a gift from the members of the exchange.

COUSTER FACING L. A. POLICE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15. (AP)—Counter charges of "political capital" flew today as the Los Angeles police commission, threatened with ouster by the city council in a row over assault and battery charges, conferred with Mayor Frank L. Shaw.

Nine of the 15 councilmen voted for a motion directing the police commission to "clean up" the city of the face removal.

Edward L. Thrasher charged illegal gambling devices were operating openly under police protection.

Major Bowes' radio amateurs arrived in Santa Ana this morning, and were met with a big smile and a wave of her sombrero by Barbara Rowland, Santa Ana's official representative.

The bus bearing the amateur troupe drew up before the Broadway theater at 11:30 o'clock, led by a motorcycle police escort. Already crowds had gathered at the theater and were forming a line for the first appearance of the group.

Miss Rowland, crowned California's "Outing Girl" last summer, and her father, Mayor Fred C. Rowland, greet the performers. Barbara was mounted on her pony, but dismounted, after the bus had stopped, to do the honors. Later she inscribed a photograph of herself to be sent to Major Bowes.

Five showings of the troupe were to be made today, commencing at 5:30 o'clock. Manager Lester J. Fountain of the Broadway theater, announced.

VISITOR IS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN AUTO CABIN

Leo Murringham, 45, Los Angeles, is in the county hospital in serious condition today as the result of inhaling too much gas from a heater in his cabin at the Shady Nook auto camp on 101 highway near Katella. Mr. Murringham, who had rented the cabin Monday night, was found yesterday noon by a camp attendant.

According to a report filed by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey, Mr. Murringham had told an employee at the camp that he wanted to rent the cabin for one night only, and that he had heart trouble.

Mr. Murringham was found unconscious on his bed. The windows and door of the cabin were closed, and the heater was burning. Bloodstains on the floor and the fact that Mr. Murringham's nose was broken led Deputy McKelvey to believe he had fallen, probably as the result of a heart attack.

BOYS STUDY CROPS
BERLIN. (AP)—Veterinary science and agriculture are the most popular subjects, and theology the least elected study, among sons of hereditary farmers in German universities. Only 3.32 per cent of the student bodies come from the farm, but from this percentage comes 52 per cent of the members of the student fraternities.

BANNER YEAR IS SEEN BY BUILDERS

Rising rents and a housing shortage throughout the county presage one of the best building years since the depression, members of the Orange County Builders' Exchange were told at last night's annual meeting, held in Orange.

Every report made by the committee during the evening pointed to a banner year for the exchange, Secretary Franklin E. Smith said.

He stated that contracts for Works Progress administration jobs totaling $23,000 had been handled through the exchange offices in the past three months.

Few Delinquencies
Treasurer R. I. Mathews, in giving the financial report for the year, submitted the best record the exchange has made for several years, reporting very few delinquencies, and a noted increase in contracts handled through the exchange.

The legislative committee announced that it is proceeding with efforts sponsored by the exchange to make the state contractors license law more rigid. The exchange is attempting to secure an amendment to the law requiring an examination for all contractors and adding the requirement of carrying compensation insurance.

Officers Seated
Newly elected officers of the exchange seated last night included I. W. McFarlane, president; H. W. Schleuter, first vice-president; Donald Beach Kirby, second vice-president; R. I. Mathews, treasurer, and Franklin E. Smith, secretary.

William J. Tway acted as toastmaster. Maurice Philips, Al Foster, John Lejonde and G. W. Thomas, Jr., presented parts of the musical program. Following dinner there was dancing, with Leon Eckles directing the WPA dance band.

Honor guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Wells, John Hopper, director of the Long Beach exchange, and Charles W. Petter, president of the state exchange. Retiring president Therman Means was presented with a gift from the members of the exchange.

INDIA DOCTOR IS SPEAKER HERE

Dr. Carol Jameson, member of the staff in the medical school in Vellore, India, was the speaker last night for the World Wide club meeting at the First Baptist church.

The school has 14 doctors and 80 nurses, Dr. Jameson said. Women doctors are in special demand because of Indian traditions which inhibit a woman receiving medical treatment from a man doctor.

Mission study and white cross work busied the group in section meetings following the talk. Potluck supper was a feature of the meeting.

SHIPS ABANDON S. F. AS PORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Temporary abandonment of San Francisco as a port of call pending settlement of labor troubles is under consideration by a number of intercoastal shipping companies, it was learned today.

One company, the Panama-Pacific line, already has ordered one ship, the California, to pass up San Francisco entirely, and the vessel now is at Los Angeles preparing to start a return trip to New York Saturday. Other companies are considering similar moves, it was said.

THEFT SUSPECT IS BOUND OVER

John M. Marshall, charged with grand theft of money here, was held to answer to the superior court today by Justice of the Peace Chris P. Pann, who is on the bench in the Santa Ana justice court in the absence of Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison, due to illness. Marshall was arrested last week at the Santa Anita race track by detectives, was returned to Santa Ana, arraigned, and held under $5000 bail.

Marshall assertedly victimized Mrs. Ella Elizabeth Lisle, Finley Hotel, Santa Ana, of $280. Mrs. Lisle testified today that last November she gave Mr. Marshall, then a clerk at the Finley hotel, $280 to keep for her. Later, when she asked for the money, she was unable to get it, she said. Shortly after Christmas, Marshall disappeared from the hotel.

The Ensign Oil Company yesterday started suit in superior court against Ronald Pointon and others, seeking a $30,515.32 judgment for asserted wrongful eviction of the plaintiff from Huntington Beach oil property. The complaint asked $15,000 exemplary damages and $15,515.32 for loss of production during the period of eviction.

The oil company said it had gone to court after the eviction and quieted its title to the property, which it occupied under a sublease. The complaint accused the defendants of leasing the property to others while the plaintiff's sublease was in force.

Joel Ogle, Santa Ana attorney, spent yesterday in San Diego, where he tried a case.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan E. Maloney, 930 South Broadway, were expected to return tonight from San Francisco, where they have spent the past week on business.

Meet Your Neighbor

The Journal's Compilation of Orange County People You Should Know.

Name: Mrs. James Leslie Steffensen.

Occupation: Home-maker and part-time music teacher at high school.

Home address: 1015 Lowell street, Macomb, Ill.

Where were you born? Macomb, Ill.

What has been the most interesting event in your life to date? Watching the development of my young children.

What form of recreation do you enjoy most? Musical programs.

What career would you recommend for a young man (or woman) starting out for himself (or herself) today? I think a young man should have a business or professional career with music as an avocation.

Of course, it depends pretty much upon the interests and talents of a boy or girl as to what he educates himself for.

If you were Editor of The Journal what one change would you make in the paper? No criticisms.

What do you like least in The Journal? Nothing I object to.

What do you like best in the Journal? The attitudes of the paper toward public questions and all types of news.

What bit of world news has interested you most in recent weeks? Peace movements upon the part of countries other than Italy and Ethiopia have been more interesting to me than news of the war.

What local news in The Journal has interested you most recently? School bond election and the water bond election.

What one thing does Santa Ana need most? An auditorium.

How can Orange county be improved? We should have a cooperative movement of musical interests to bring outstanding artists to the community, particularly. The project which has succeeded at Claremont is a real challenge and contribution.

One-sentence interview: I think that combining marriage with a career depends upon a very systematic life in which both interests are properly balanced. It also demands that one must all the police she can to maintain peace, not become hurried and neglect one phase for the other.

Mary Stoddard 'SCORES' Magazine Tells About Her

Mary Stoddard and the Santa Ana chapter of De Molays won attention of De Molays throughout the world through the current edition of the De Molay Cordons, published monthly by the Grand Council of the organization in Kansas City, Mo.

Last fall, a "worried mother" wrote to Mary Stoddard asking her whether it was safe to send her daughter to the De Molay Job's Daughters Friday night dances. Mary Stoddard said "yes," and then went on an investigating trip herself.

She wrote personal impressions of the affair, endorsing the dances. A brief history of the dances, together with almost her entire feature article, was printed in the De Molay magazine, with the news of the achievement of Santa Ana De Molays, and publicizing the fact that The Santa Ana Journal is interested in promoting civic welfare.

March came in like a lion. Look at the record: March 3, 1.56 inches; March 4, 4.5 inches; March 5, .75 inches; March 6, .52 inches; March 7, .67 inches; March 9, 2.72 inches. We're doing fine.

Creek Went Crazy

Santiago creek went crazy. It cut a new channel, started a couple of subsidiary channels, changed the landscape in every direction. The Santa Ana river boiled merrily away, day after day. Orchards were flooded, fields inundated and scenery changed permanently.

March gave a total of 9.33 inches, April tapered

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

H. O. HUM. Also, alackaday! Two days of what Bob Guild calls a tummy-ache and here we are, back grinding again.

Already we've had 14 thoughtful ones ask if we had a nice vacation. They should know, if they don't, that there isn't any fishing now. So there!

This being sick business isn't so hot, anyway. One day to be ill in, and one to convalesce, that's our motto, it didn't go over very big with the wielder of the Gaines authority. For instance, with the petulance of one on his deathbed, we urged home-made ice cream for supper last night. No response. We made it a little stronger, pointing out that one about to take the final dive is entitled to a little more consideration.

So, finally, we won the argument, in a way. We got the ice cream, but had to turn the freezer to get it. Is that proper treatment for one in dying condition?

We noticed, while we were gone, that Bob Guild covered most of the county. Thanks, pal. Should have warned him against going to Huntington Beach—they might have taken him for an oil derrick and set him afire, but he must have escaped.

We'd like to take someone down to the beach town one of these days and point out high spots in the tree-trimming campaign they're still pushing down there. At first lots of us thought perhaps they'd gone a bit too far and whacked so many branches the trees would suffer, but already they look better—much.

We also followed Bob over the waters of Newport bay—pardon, meant Orange County harbor. You know, this business of filling a column every day is sort of trying, at times, but as a last resort, at the harbor one can pick up something or other.

Before having to use our "beg pardon" column, we'll apologize for calling the bay district a "last resort," knowing that boosters'll start roaring for blood immediately.

Incidentally, if you want to find out what's happening in the harbor district—sort of a seagull's eye view, pop up or Corona Del Mar. There are several points there where one can get a fine view of the whole works—the completed breakwaters, deep, blue water, and lots of fine boats.

It'll always happen, however—you'll just be starting the second round of the harbor, with eyes, when a real estate salesman'll come along. They usually do. He'll immediately start selling the view, or a lot, or something. Poetic descriptions aren't much needed when you're looking at that view, but you'll get 'em, anyway. If so, try one of our two favorite prescriptions. The first is to wait until the salesman is about through with his harangue and then remark, sociably, "Huh?" If that doesn't stop him, and it should, try the second, which is to scamper up a tree, making barking noises. He'll start worrying about dogs climbing trees and decide it's time to go home for lunch.

To be frank, I never had to use the second prescription yet, but in theory, it's perfect. Up to now, the "Huh?" has always worked.

Which, everyone'll admit, is getting a long way from Newport harbor, but by now we should have had time to enjoy the view, so we'll move along.

It won't be long before we learn which mayor is the best horse-shoe heaver in the county. We're still worrying about Tom Talbert, Huntington Beach, and his chances of surviving—can't prove without too much trouble, but he was picked as a winner when the trials started and has been going great guns ever since. Our other choice was Mayor Billy Hale from Fullerton, and Billy would have done better if they hadn't elected him head of the county league of municipalities. That threw him off balance.

Anyway, our favorite still has a chance. When the next round is held, he meets Fred Schwendeman from Tustin. Another interesting match should be Mayor Fred Rowland from Santa Ana and Mayor Charlie Young from Placentia. Mayor Rowland's better watch himself—Charlie's been practicing! The third match in the semi-finals will be two councilmen—Irvine George Gordon from Newport and Joe Smith from Santa Ana, another good battle, maybe.

But whoever comes out on top, they'll find Mayor Elmer Hughes from Seal Beach waiting for 'em. Elmer's already reached the last round in the tournament and is all wound up, it's reported, to get the gold-studded statue the Newport C. of C. is offering for first prize.

We still think that chewing tobacco's going to have a lot to do with victory or defeat in the tourney—if the Huntington Beach entry "chaws" the right brand, he'll win!

ORANGES RETURN $134,242 TO G. G. RANCHERS IN 1935

INCREASE IN SHIPMENTS REPORTED

E. J. Smale Re-elected
Manager At Annual Dinner Meeting

GARDEN GROVE.—That growers affiliated with the Garden Grove Mutual Orange association were paid $134,242 for their 1935 crop was the report given at the annual dinner meeting held yesterday at the Woman's clubhouse.

The report given by Manager E. J. Smale showed a gross return of $193,354 from which were deducted labor and salary costs of $33,160 and an additional $25,862 for materials and supplies.

Manager Smale's report also revealed an increase in membership, with 26 additional members, thereby resulting in an increase of 235 acres of fruit affiliated with the house. In addition, 52,460 more boxes of fruit were handled in 1935 than during the preceding year. The total amount of fruit handled was 5412 field boxes of Washington navel and 174,104 field boxes of valencias, or 286 cars of tree fruit.

The business meeting, election of officers and speaking program followed a turkey dinner served by members of the Woman's Civic club.

Among speakers were J. W. Crill, president of the board of directors, who told of his recent trip east to attend the National Farm Bureau federation convention at Chicago, in which he reported finding industrial conditions much improved all over the east. Other speakers, all from the M. O. D. headquarters at Redlands, were A. E. Isham, head of the field department; J. H. Straight, president of the district board of directors; J. A. Steward, manager of the sales department, and J. H. Lytle, statistician.

Members of the board of directors, all of whom were re-elected, are J. W. Crill, president; Jess Long, vice president; W. K. Suiter, secretary; F. K. Kirker, C. M. Roberts, W. W. Mickle and Charles A. Andres. E. J. Smale was reappointed manager.

GAIN OF RED CROSS TOLD

ORANGE.—Revealing a membership gain of 116 per cent in the Orange chapter, American Red Cross, Mrs. Laura K. Warren gave an optimistic report of the recent roll call at the annual meeting of the organization last evening at the first station. W. O. Hart, chairman, presided.

Officers for the new year were elected, with Harvey Riggle named as chairman; Judge A. W. Swayze, vice chairman; Mrs. E. M. Turner, secretary, and Mrs. Amy Meyer, treasurer. Members of the board of directors elected were E. E. Campbell, W. W. Perry, Alfred Higgins, George Pantages, W. O. Hart, Dr. Thomas Rhone, Miss Vena Jones, Fire Chief A. L. Tomblin, Al Wunderlich and Dr. J. E. Riley.

Reports were given by Harvey Riggle, chairman of home service work; V. A. Townsend told of junior Red Cross work; Miss Vena Jones told of the emergency supply closet, and Mrs. Robert Johnson reported on volunteer service Christmas bags.

Miss Bessie Sawyer, Orange, who is an instructor and proof-reader of Braille, the raised letters of the blind, was introduced.

Members accepted the budget report of $490, submitted by Mrs. Amy Meyer, and firemen, under direction of Dr. Thomas Rhone, gave a demonstration in first aid, including the use of the inhalator.

G. W. Fuller was the guest of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Welsh and Mr. and Mrs. Ford, Los Angeles, over Sunday.

Miss Martha Wallingford, Riverside, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Wallingford.

Elmer Post and Vincent Bozetti are in San Diego filling a contract with the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. E. O. Packard is in Huntington Beach, called there by the illness of her daughter, Fern.

L. C. Sullivan has returned from a short trip to San Diego.

EXTENSION CLASS TO OPEN ON JAN. 20

FULLERTON.—A University of California extension division class in "The Consumer's Problems" will open Jan. 20 in Fullerton Junior college, under the direction of Charles L. Ruby, instructor in economics. It was announced today.

The class is one of more than 100 being offered by the extension division, several more of which are slated to open here during February.

FULLERTON.—Irvin S. Cobb, humorist and author, has been invited to introduce Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd when the latter makes his personal appearance at Fullerton Junior High school auditorium Saturday, January 25 at 8 p. m. under auspices of the Fullerton junior chamber of commerce.

Action on the invitation was taken at a meeting of the board of directors of the junior chamber last evening and a night letter inviting the noted columnist to make the introduction was sent immediately. It was followed by a detailed letter.

Seats for the Byrd performance, which are on sale by junior chamber members, with reservation being made at the chamber of commerce offices, have been selling rapidly, according to Bob Hatfield, ticket committee chairman. Those who have not purchased tickets are urged to do so at once in order to get good seats.

The lecture, which will be illustrated with 10,000 feet of Admiral Byrd's own pictures, will begin at 8 p. m.

LEGION GROUP PLANS EVENT

ORANGE.—Plans for entertainment of delegates to the 21st district meeting of the American Legion auxiliary were outlined at Monday's meeting of the Orange chapter.

The district meeting will open with a luncheon at noon in the Legion hall, under direction of Mrs. Thomas Richardson. A round-table discussion of district problems will be held during the day, and committee reports will be heard.

A committee also appointed to make arrangements for a Washington Day dinner to be given service men and their wives in the locality, consisting of Mrs. C. H. Adams, Mrs. Marion Bickford, and Mrs. Bill Phillips.

A report of the mother's club meeting held earlier in the day was given by Mrs. Anna Christensen. Mrs. Marjorie Peabody, district president gave a short talk complimenting the unit for its welfare work. A welfare report was given by Mrs. Dolores Goodwin. Two guests, Mrs. Peabody, La Habra, and Mrs. Jean Francis, Angel Camp, were present.

HARBOR RITES ARE APPROVED

The board of supervisors yesterday gave its approval to the idea of a celebration next May to commemorate completion of Newport Harbor. This section will be the signal for active work to start on preparations for the event, it was indicated by Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport harbor chamber of commerce, who appeared before the supervisors.

The affair will take place about the middle of May. The governors of California, Arizona and Nevada probably will be invited as special guests, Mr. Welch said. The celebration will take place at about the time the yachting season opens.

A committee headed by Admiral Albert Soiland will go to work on plans for the event. A committee of 100, including public officials, will be formed, and from this group a board of directors of 35 will be created, Mr. Welch said.

In giving their approval to the plan, the supervisors said they were not pledging financial support. Mr. Welch made it plain that this was not being requested.

BUILDERS PLAN H. B. MEETING

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Members of the Orange county branch of the Southern California chapter of the Association of General Contractors of America will dine at the Golden Bear cafe here next Monday evening. The announcement was made by Frank and Reuben Catching, local contractors, who are making arrangements for the meeting.

R. G. Miller, manager of the local office of the Southern Counties Gas company, will talk on fishing and tell about the files which he makes for trout fishing.

Lester Wilson, Santa Ana, president of the chapter, will conduct the business meeting, and F. J. Conley, manager of the Southern California chapter, will be a speaker. All building inspectors of Orange county will be guests.

SCHOOL REPAIR PROJECT TO START

PLACENTIA.—Work is expected to be started soon on the demolition of the Bradford avenue and Baker street grammar schools, under Works Progress administration supervision, it was announced today. The projects were given approval of the administration this week.

Total cost of the two projects will exceed $60,000, and approximately 50 men will be given employment. The schools were damaged in the 1933 earthquake. The projects are a part of the rehabilitation program being undertaken by the school system.

CORPS LEADERS INSTALLED

MIDWAY CITY.—At an installation ceremony to which the public was invited, Woman's Relief corps officers were seated Monday evening, the event taking place at the Woman's clubhouse. Gladys McDonald, Orange, was installing officer, assisted by a staff composed of Florence Merriam, Orange; Maude Joseph, Costa Mesa; Estelle Gray, Santa Ana; colorbearer were Mary Mitchell, Santa Ana; Katherine Parker, Huntington Beach; Clara Olson, Garden Grove, and Grace Deck, Orange; the four escorts were Mabel Johns, May Rogers, Ada Campbell and Ada Florey, Whittier.

Officers Told
The installed officers were Gladys Carson, president; Nellie Murphy, senior vice president; Sybil B. Chamberlain, junior vice president; Bertha Schmidt, secretary; Ella Toussaint, treasurer; Irene Lutter, conductor; Anna Abbott, guard; patriotic instructor, Nellie Murdy; musician, Zelma Johnson; assistant conductor, Lenel Love; assistant guard, Dora Lutter; colorbearer, Helen Gillespie and assistant guard, Affie Peller.

Special guests present were Lavina Stanley, department chaplain, Whittier; Comrade Addison Baker, Orange; C. F. Miller, senior vice commander of Sons of Union Veterans of Civil War, Santa Ana; Ben R. Upham, quartermaster of Spanish War Veterans, Barber City; Alvina Ober, Lena Hewitt, Santa Ana, and Frances Cortner, Huntington Beach.

Give Program
Following the installation ceremony a program was presented including a violin and banjo duet by Everette Hyllton and Bob Orrender; a solo, by Charlene Carson; a reading, Mrs. Homer Hillborn, and two songs, by William Phillips, accompanied by Vida Pryor. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the evening.

A short business meeting was held early in the evening and a new member, Nellie Murdy, was initiated. It was announced that the next meeting will be a social evening and a card party at the home of Anna Abbott, Westminster.

SAN JUAN WATER DISTRICT MEETING SLATED FRIDAY

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—A meeting of property owners will be held here Friday evening to discuss possibility of formation of a water district to carry out local projects proposed in the recent county-wide water conservation and flood control plan.

Maps and plans of the county project are being studied by members of a committee and reports are expected at Friday's session. Among local residents interested in the project are Judge R. Y.

OPEN BIDS FOR NEW BUILDING

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—F. W. Rogers, manager of the local citrus packing house, announced that bids for excavating for the new addition to the plant were to be opened this morning, and the contract awarded. All firms bidding have agreed that the one getting said work will have trucks and steamshovels on the job by Friday morning, it was reported.

Work of moving the sewer line abutting the property of American Fruits Growers' house is nearly finished.

Following excavation of a 100 by 140-foot basement, the present building will be moved to this site and a new structure erected. All construction work will be let on contract, local labor being used on all but the excavating.

Mr. Rogers said the annual barbecue which will be held at San Juan Hot Springs Saturday, will be, in part, a celebration of the rapid growth of the local plant.

Each year the house holds a "grower's" barbecue, which is strictly social, with no statistics or long speeches permitted. Many officials of the company are expected to be present.

the home of Anna Abbott, Westminster.

LAGUNA BANK SURPLUS IS ANNOUNCED

Same Board Of Directors And Officials Elected At Annual Meeting

LAGUNA BEACH.—At a meeting of stockholders and directors of the Citizens Bank of Laguna yesterday afternoon, a surplus of $18,922 over last year's total was revealed, according to figures released by Frank D. Hevener, executive vice president.

After payment of the regular 4 per cent semi-annual dividends, $5000 was transferred from the undivided profits to the surplus account, which leaves a capital stock of $50,000, surplus of $20,000 and undivided profits of $14,470.

In contrast to last year's figures, the capital stock was $50,000, surplus only $1651 and undivided profits $13,897.

Mr. Hevener reported the number of depositors greater at the present time than in any other similar season in the history of the bank.

The directors, Dr. Burgess B. Mason, Thomas A. Cummings, H. G. Heisler, E. B. McKnight, Roy W. Peacock, Frank D. Hevener and John C. Gibson, were all re-elected for the coming year; likewise officers of the bank. Dr. Mason, president; Mr. Hevener, executive vice president, and Mr. Gibson, cashier and secretary.

H. B. CHURCH GROUP PLANS CONCERT

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Children of the Christian church will take part in a concert which will be presented at the church on Friday night, with a tea a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. J. G. Hurst, wife of the Rev. J. G. Hurst, pastor of the church, is in charge of the entertainment. All children of the church gifted as musicians, singers or readers, will perform.

Mike Jacobs Takes Option on Charley Retzlaff—'Just in Case'

Column Left

March of Time

The march of time department: Bud Holzhauser, with an unspotted amateur record, stops his first professional rival with a technical knockout in the fourth round. Holzhauser, who made one appearance at the Orange County Athletic club and was slated for half a dozen others, hangs it on Johnny La Mothe at the L. A. Olympic last night.

Ralph (Bill) Cole, starting an evening gym class at his fine Tustin High school gym, invites Journal sports writers out with a twinkle in both eyes.

Keeping an eye to the box office, Promoter Mike Jacobs announces from New York that chances are he will stage the Schmeling-Louis battle in Philadelphia, scene of the Democratic national convention. Conferences and stuff are under way now. Watch for announcements.

Told Brother Lester is seriously considering turning fighter, young Art Stoefer, first string center on the Stanford basketball team, says: "He hasn't licked me yet!"

Walter Mails, the veteran southpaw, signs as publicity agent for the San Francisco Seals. Meanwhile, the Pacific Coast league moguls banquet and likely plan a toast to one of the best prospective seasons in years.

Night ball fans still wait for an announcement of George Lackey's appointment of manager of the Santa Ana Stars. Officials declared they would make the deal official when the proper time arrived. It is to be assumed the time has not yet arrived.

Fight fans busy themselves trying to pick out which round it will be when Charley Retzlaff finds the canvas Friday night—under the persuasion of Joe Louis' punches. Our guess is the second stanza, not later than the third. Not enough money at stake to go any farther than that.

The "white hope" business takes a fresh tack. Listen to Mike Jacobs, the promoter: "He (Jock) McAvoy, British light heavyweight champion, is still young and growing. He has shown us he can fight, if he can put on 15 or 20 pounds, he'll be well over 190 and that's heavy enough. Then what have you? Another Dempsey-Carpenter... Another international natural, another million dollar gate. I was around when Richard sent the Frenchman against Louis or Braddock... After all, Joe hasn't licked him yet." We start to laugh, but remember that Mike said before the Baer-Braddock thing: "Max hasn't licked him yet."

Horse players might hitch their $2 bills to a "star." In the last two or three days these horses have been in the money. Star Brook, Staraway, Budding Star, Star Brook was a surprise first, Staraway a pleasant third and Budding Star was a profitable second.

After one blast, no more news comes from Huntington Beach regarding the rumored resignation of Joe Rodgers, generalissimo of the omnipotent Oilers.

LE MON BILLED HERE FRIDAY

When Lupe LeMon gets back in action Friday night at the County Athletic club after several months' layoff, he will face Hub Powell, the ace light-heavyweight of Frank Garcia's stable.

Garcia, a former amateur featherweight champion who fought five world champions as a professional, is of the opinion Powell will become one of the leading amateurs in the Southland.

Lee Mullins, featherweight, and holder of the tri-state championship from West Virginia, is another Garcia scrapper who will appear on the program. Mullins will face Baby Rosales, Placentia.

Hank Lowe, the Los Angeles negro heavyweight, fights the main event with Sailor George Ladley, all navy light-heavyweight champion.

Promoter Sam Sampson yesterday signed Casey Cumblo, clever and popular mat star to wrestle Monday night's opening bout at the Orange County Athletic club. A double three-fall main event featuring Gino Garibaldi vs. Herb Freeman and Sandor Szabo vs. Dick Daviscourt is billed.

Cumblo, seeking a rematch with Champion Lopez, to whom he lost a sensational battle a week ago, draws Tony Rocco, New York Italian.

Sampson also signed Milo Steinborn, the German strongman for the special event with the bull-necked Turk, Ahmet Yousouf.

CHANNEL SWIMMER

BY SWIMMING non-stop for 50 hours, Bani Ghose, 15-year-old Indian girl of Bombay, established herself as a candidate for world endurance records. She is training now for a try at the English Channel late in the summer, in an attempt to duplicate Gertrude Ederle's feat.

LOUIS WORKS HARD FOR BATTLE

Charley Looks Better In Mixing Punches During Training

By WILLIAM WEEKES
CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Mike Jacobs, who has Joe Louis' pugilistic services tied up for five years, probably would be just as surprised as anyone else if Charley Retzlaff should whip the Brown Bomber Friday night, but such an eventuality would not find him unprepared.

Jacobs said he had an option on the North Dakota slugger for three fights, apparently on a just-in-case basis. Jacobs, matchmaker for the Twentieth Century Sporting club of New York, who has a hand in the promotion of Friday's attraction in the Chicago stadium, yesterday had his first look at Louis in training for the bout.

Sale Is $36,000
While both boxers hammered sparring partners about the management disclosed that the advance sale of tickets had passed $36,000.

Louis put in his heaviest day since he started training. He boxed seven rounds with an assortment of partners, but concentrated on Otto Thomas, Thomas, biggest and most active of the catchers, devoted his time to defending himself, but took a severe body beating. Louis did not score a knockdown, concentrating on speed and timing rather than hard punching.

Retzlaff, who has been accused of being "right-hand crazy," worked impressively. He landed a lot of sharp right-hand punches, but mixed them with the best left hand he has shown in drills. He boxed only three rounds, all of them with Harry Nelson of Detroit, who was nailed frequently.

They will start tapering off today, although both plan to box tomorrow and Thursday.

The sporting card lines up with two eight-rounders, between Eddie Mader, New York, and Art Sykes, Elmira, N. Y., and Al Lewis, Chicago, and Chief Paris, Oklahoma City; a pair of six-round bouts between Tom Beupre, Dallas, Tex., and Harry Nelson, Detroit, and Buddy Knox, Dayton, Ohio, and Joe Ketchell, Cleveland, and a four-rounder between Izzy Singer, New York, and Hal Anderson, Flint, Mich.

Winner Of Santa Anita Handicap Likely To Be a '200-Grand' Horse

Azucar, owned by Fred M. Alger, Jr., and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery (shown above, with the latter in the background) are two of the eight eligibles for the Santa Anita Handicap in California, Feb. 22, which can pass the $200,000 mark in turf earnings by winning the first renewal of the rich stake. Azucar won the inaugural of the event near Los Angeles a year ago but Discovery is the 1936 favorite. Besides these two, the horses which could earn the unofficial moniker of "200-grand" by a victory in the Santa Anita are Cavalcade, Ladysman, Top Row, Head Play, Time Supply and Singing Wood.

SANTA ANITA, Jan. 15. (AP)—If one of eight thoroughbreds wins the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap near Los Angeles on Washington's birthday he will enter the select circle of horses that have won more than $200,000 during their racing careers.

Not since Equipose, Twenty Grand and Mate bowed out after trailing Azucar in last year's inaugural of the rich stake has the American turf seen a horse which has won that much.

The thoroughbreds having a chance to boost their winning to that total on Feb. 22 are Discovery, Azucar, Cavalcade, Ladysman, Top Row, Head Play, Time Supply and Singing Wood. Each is a first class horse and it is extremely likely the winner will come home from this group.

Discovery the Favorite
Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery, of course, is the favorite to win the Santa Anita, despite his top impost of 130 pounds. Discovery has won approximately $160,000 during his career, and has raced one fast mile and a quarter—2:01 1-5—of any of the nominees.

Fred M. Alger, Jr., Azucar, surprise winner last year, has earned a total of about $135,000, though he has not won a race since his major triumph, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade, 3-year-old champion in 1934, has a total of $125,000.

Ladysman, which was second to Azucar's last year—has a brilliant victory over Equipose to his credit, was juvenile champion in 1932 and has won about $120,000. Top Row, twice conqueror of Discovery, has won $110,000.

Singing Wood, 1933 juvenile champion; Head Play and Time Supply have won approximately $100,000 each.

Older Horses Dominate
Nominations for the Santa Anita indicate that owners consider the event strictly a race for older horses. The only thoroughbred prominent in the 1935 3-year-old campaign nominated is Hal Price Headley's Whopper, which has been dubbed "America's ugliest horse." But, under only 116 pounds, Whopper is a dangerous threat, though decidedly a "dark horse" in the field.

As for the 1935 juveniles, only two of the better ones have been nominated for the Santa Anita. They are The Fighter and Valedictorian, and are conceded slight chances of upsetting the handicap stars.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15. (AP)—King (I ain't so dumb) Levinsky was installed as a local fight favorite today after a wild swinging 10-round decision over Hank Hankinson, Akron, O., heavyweight.

The kingfish, a bum, washed-up prizefighter yesterday, was a man returned from the pugilistic scrapheap today.

Outpunching Hankinson, a knock-out artist in these parts despite his own sensitive jaw, was a surprise, but the convincing manner in which Levinsky did it pleased a crowd of about 10,000 who jammed the Olympic auditorium for Promoter Joe Waterman's show.

The victory changed the entire complexion of the second-half scramble for court honors, and paved the way for a three-way deadlock among the Mills, Scottie's and M. M. (Buster) Devine's crack Shell Oilers.

Individual scoring honors in the crucial feature were divided between Fred Wiemer of the Woolen Mills and Jack (Red) McManus of Scottie's. Both forwards gathered 11 points. Vincent McDonald, guard, also was all over the guard to cage nine counters. Forward Bob Schwarm of Scottie's corralled six.

Scottie's must play a postponed game with Garlock's Service, and Garlock's has another game with Costa Mesa tonight, before the second half ends. United Presbyterians and United Brethren of the Community Church league clash at 8:30, following the Garlock-Mesa game.

Santa Anita Attracts Fast Turf Trio

Ten American thoroughbreds have raced a mile and a quarter in 2:02 or faster. Three of them are eligible for California's 1936 Santa Anita Handicap, Feb. 22. The list:

Whiskbroom 11, 2 minutes flat (official world record but disputed).
Sarazen, 2:00 4-5 (unofficial American record).

"Discovery, 2:01 1-5.
Omaha, 2:01 1-5.
Sun Beau, 2:01 3-5.
Man-o-War, 2:01 4-5.
Twenty Grand, 2:01 4-5.
Equipose, 2:02.
"Azucar, 2:02.
"Head Play, 2:02.
("Santa Anita eligibles.)

champion in 1934, has a total of $125,000.

Ladysman, which was second to Azucar's last year—has a brilliant victory over Equipose to his credit, was juvenile champion in 1932 and has won about $120,000. Top Row, twice conqueror of Discovery, has won $110,000.

INFIELD ONLY WORRY FOR YANKEES

McCarthy Seeks Good Second Sacker And Short Stop

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Yankees' infield causes most of Joe McCarthy's worries as he prepares for the 1936 American league season.

Joe would like to pull off a deal or two before the club starts south next month, but a $500,000 demand for Buddy Myer, who is by no means a youngster, and a high price tag on Pinky Higgins make it appear unlikely that he will succeed.

Not at $500,000
Myer, who led the league in batting for Washington last season, is the player Joe really wants, but not at $500,000, the price set by Clark Griffith.

The need for an able second baseman who can last through the season was emphasized when McCarthy, who arrived yesterday, to start the preparations rolling, said he expected to start Tony Lazzeri on the keystone sack again.

Tony can be expected to do well for a couple of months, Joe admitted, but about mid-season he begins to weaken. The available reserves are Don Heffner and Jack Saltzgraver, who haven't shown yet that they can fill the bill.

What of Crosetti?
Then there's the question of Shortstop Frank Crosetti's ailing knee. Crosetti was out of action by an injury late last season, and the Yanks were put into a hole. He underwent a knee operation, and reports he is in good condition.

First base, where Lou Gehrig is apparently a fixture, and third seem to be the least of McCarthy's problems even if he doesn't get Higgins from the Athletics.

Red Rolfe has been doing so well there that the manager refused to show any interest in Freddy Lindstrom, recently released by the Cubs. If the Higgins deal goes through Rolfe may be tried at second, although Joe is doubtful about his success in that berth.

In the outfield Ben Chapman in center and George Selkirk in right are considered figures, and young Joe di Maggio, brilliant Coast league rookie, is slated to play left field.

The battery department doesn't worry McCarthy, with Bill Dickey behind the plate and Lefty Gomez, Charley Ruffing, Johnny Broaca, Monte Pearson, Johnny Murphy and Jimmy de Shong doing the tossing. The club's strength there and hopes for strong comebacks after "slump seasons" by Gehrig, Gomez, Chapman and Dickey make McCarthy predict again:

"The team that beats the Yankees will win the pennant."

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15. (AP)—Baseball magnates of the Pacific Coast league went into formal session today to set the stage for the coming season.

W. C. Tuttle, newly-elected president of the loop, presided at the meeting, the third the bosses have held this winter and the first since he took charge.

Adoption of a 1936 schedule, which will hardly be released for some time yet, and completion of arrangements for the new championship play-off plan were the chief bits of business to be handled.

Celebrities, city officials and renowned names of baseball will settle down to a banquet tonight. Optimism, something missing in recent years, prevailed at today's session, with a flush year at the box office in prospect, and clubs around the circuit in better financial condition than in previous seasons.

The weight of a racing greyhound varies from about 40 to 75 pounds, with 65 regarded as ideal for both speed and endurance.

FAMILY OF COACHES

TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT of the basketball coaches in the Rocky Mountain conference are Romneys. E. L. (Dick) Romney coaches Utah State, Brother Ott coaches Brigham Young University, and their nephew, Elwood, is new coach at Western State, Gunnison, Colo. Elwood formerly was star forward for Uncle Ott.

CONDUCTS CLASS

Ralph (Big Bill) Cole, athletic mentor at Tustin High school, will be in charge of a physical education class for Tustin and Santa Ana adults beginning at 7 o'clock in the Tustin gymnasium tonight and every Wednesday night.

The class will be devoted to general recreation, with organized games and gymnastics for "all those interested."

Memories of Santa Ana High school's Southern California Class B champions of 1929 were recalled in Andrews gymnasium last night in one of the most thrilling light-weight basketball games ever played here—or anywhere else.

Alhambra won from Coach Clyde Cook's "Little Saints," 31 to 30, in a wild finish.

Sparkling individual work by Forward Russell Duffel, who figured in a sensational basketball-hitting streak in the waning minutes of play, added color to the exciting game, held at a fever pitch throughout by the fighting fives which would not allow either to get more than three or four points ahead.

The score by quarters tells the story, with Alhambra maintaining slim 8-7, 15-13, 21-19 and 31-30 leads.

Duffel, who hit the ring for 15 points, scored 13 in the last few minutes. Three successive shots from the extreme side by the little fellow sent the crowd in an uproar, and the fans rose to their feet when he dribbled right through the entire Alhambra club to deadlock the count 26-29 with another field goal. Alhambra shot into the lead, 31-29, and Duffel tossed in a charity throw to make the score 30-31. Santa Ana unsuccessfully tried two rushed set-up shots before the final blast of the gun.

The game stole much thunder from the varsity game that followed.

NATIONAL GRANGE SUBMITS 10-POINT PLAN TO REPLACE AAA

REQUESTS TO CONGRESS OUTLINED

Program Marks Break With Proposals Of Administration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The National Grange, dean of organized farm groups in America, submitted to the senate agricultural committee today a 10-point program for a new national plan to replace AAA.

Grange officials said it represented a crystallizing of farm sentiment against a constitutionally-questionable rewriting of AAA to control agricultural production through subsidized soil conservation.

In the first definite break with administration plans to draft a bill retaining AAA principles along lines adopted by Secretary Wallace's farm conference last week, the Grange made these requests to congress:

The 10 Points

1. Appropriation to provide for the completion of contracts entered into in good faith and partially carried out by American farmers.
2. A soil conservation program through wise rotation of crops and through a system of government rentals to build up national resources.
3. Speed up the retirement of marginal and sub-marginal lands for foresting, conservation, recreational and wild life uses.

Surplus Problem

4. Retain and expand the surplus commodity corporation to deal with agricultural surpluses by the following means:
(A) Maintain an ever-normal granary by farm storage and commodity loans.

- (B) Export surpluses, using the export debenture and other measures best suited.
- (C) Provide new and industrial uses for farm produce, with special attention to by-products.
- (D) Develop new crops and new markets.
- (E) Furnish relief supplies.

Protect Markets

5. Protect American markets for American farmers by:
(A) Establish facilities for controlling agricultural imports through permits, such permits to be available only upon showing actual need and non-competition with American farm products.

- (B) Rewrite reciprocal treaty law, providing ratification by the senate and repeal of most-favored national clause.
- (C) Eliminate much of the agricultural free list, basing rates on these items on a revenue basis to prevent other forms of taxation to support the farm program.

Maintain Credit

7. Maintain ample rural credit facilities. Transfer greater power to cooperative associations and borrowers. Provide crop insurance and maintain interest rates at the lowest possible level.
9. Center all land use problems

WHAT MAKES IT TICK?

This unusual picture of J. Pierpont Morgan, international banker, was taken during the senate munitions investigating committee hearing in Washington. It was, rather, the committee who wanted to know "what makes it tick?" Mr. Morgan admitted his banking house obtained commissions of $30,000,000 for handling Allied purchases of American munitions.

6000 LICENSE PLATES SOLD P.T. A. LEADERS TO GATHER

During the past 14 days 6000 license plates have been issued to Orange county motorists by highway patrol officials. There are just 14 more days during which motorists may make application for 1936 license plates without paying a 100 per cent penalty. The deadline for applications is midnight, Jan. 30.

Capt. Henry C. Meehan of the California Highway Patrol today received word from Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles in the Sacramento headquarters of the highway patrol, that there would be no extension of the time limit.

A musical program by the a cappella choir of Fullerton High school will be given under direction of Benjamin Edwards.

State officers will be featured speakers at the Fourth District Parent-Teacher association meeting at the Fullerton Union High school cafeteria tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. B. E. Clark, Sutter Creek, first vice president of the state Parent-Teacher association, will talk on "Aims and Objectives and Holding the Standard High."

Mrs. Roy Pratt, San Francisco, third vice president, will give an address on "Benefits That a Good Parent-Teacher Association May Bring to a Community." She also will point out the help council chairman can be to their community.

RENAME TWO PLAN BOARD MEMBERS

Markel And Thompson Are Re-Appointed By Supervisors

Jules Markel, Santa Ana, and Hugh Thompson, Olive, began new terms today as members of the county planning commission. They were reappointed yesterday by the board of supervisors.

Interest was attached to the development in view of a recent request by the farm bureau for representation on the commission. Under the state law governing planning commissions, no increase in the membership of the body is possible. Mr. Thompson is a farm bureau member, however. Mr. Markel is secretary of the commission.

The farm bureau has taken the position that the planning commission is one of the most important bodies affecting agricultural interests. The commission rules as to uses, improvements and disposition of all unincorporated areas, which includes much agricultural territory.

Other members of the commission are Dr. W. L. Bigham, Anaheim; L. W. Briggs, Balboa; Oliver Halsell, Santa Ana, and James Macklin, Huntington Beach.

PROPERTY SOLD TO SATISFY DAMAGE JUDGMENT

Three pieces of property belonging to William L. Johnson were sold by the sheriff's office yesterday for partial satisfaction of a $15,139 judgment secured against Mr. Johnson and others for loss of an eye and other injuries sustained by Genevieve L. Johnston.

The latter was injured on Halloween, 1933, when she was riding in an automobile on Euclid avenue near Garden Grove. Tomatoes thrown from a passing car broke the windshield of the machine which she was riding. Her left eye was cut and had to be removed.

She started suit for $20,400 damages against Mr. Johnson and nearly a dozen others. Mr. Johnson was not in the car from which the tomatoes were thrown, the machine being occupied by a group of students whose fathers were sued along with them as a result of the injury to the girl.

At the sale yesterday she bid $2800 for the three parcels of land in the northern part of the county. She now will be in position to bring quiet title actions in court, and an action for partition after which she can sell the property. Each parcel is a one-sixteenth interest.

COUNTY SEEKS RETURN OF FUNDS

The board of supervisors yesterday received an offer from the New York law firm of Moore and Bell to seek recovery of $5561.94 belonging to the county, which was in custody of Kountze brothers, New York bond house, closed several years ago. The bond house was fiscal agent for the county in retirement and payment of interest on bonds.

District Attorney W. F. Menton has contended that the $5561.94 was in reality a trust fund held by the bond house, but the referee appointed to liquidate the concern's affairs overruled the contention. Mr. Menton will communicate with the legal firm to ascertain the amount possible to recover and the cost of the litigation.

RORDEN LEAVES $55,000 ESTATE

An estate, valued at approximately $55,000, was left by the late Andrew Rorden, Fullerton, who died Jan. 1. A petition for admitting the will to probate, filed in superior court yesterday, showed that the estate includes real estate valued at $40,000 and personal property worth $15,000.

The probate petition was filed by the First National Trust and Savings bank of Fullerton. The widow, Marie Rorden, was named executrix in the will, but declined to act and nominated the bank. Nickels W. Rorden, Orange, a brother, was the only other Orange county heir listed.

SUES FOR $32,160 CRASH DAMAGES

Wyatt E. Hawley yesterday started suit in superior court against Fred C. Fluor, asking $32,160 in damages for injuries sustained in a traffic accident. The mishap occurred Dec. 17. According to the complaint the plaintiff was riding a bicycle at Santa Clara avenue and Bush street, when a collision occurred with a car driven by Mr. Fluor.

HAS UNIQUE PLAN TO BATTLE JAPAN

NANKING, China.—Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang, once known as the "Christian general," has launched a proposal which he says will save the nation many millions of dollars annually, and make it possible to fight "the enemy"—meaning Japan. Marshal Feng proposes that all the men of China shorten their gowns one foot, thus saving money on their clothing bills. He also proposes that China's 400,000,000 people stop buying buttons for their clothes. This last measure, he believes, would save enough money in a year to buy 400,000,000 bullets, which he believes would kill at least 50,000,000 of "the enemy" in the event of war.

COURT KILLS AUTO TAXES EXEMPTION

Allowable On Vets' And Household's Cars Is Privilege Levy

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15. (AP)—The new motor vehicle license tax is a privilege, not a property tax, the state supreme court held late yesterday, and hence no property tax exemptions are allowable under it.

The high court upheld constitutionally of the tax, which it termed an "excise" imposed for the privilege of using the highways. The fact it is assessed on a basis of the automobile's valuation does not make it a property tax, it held.

Both the $1000 exemptions of war veterans and the $100 exemptions of householders are thus held inapplicable, and both groups will have to pay full amounts of their automobile taxes.

Upsets Webb's Ruling

Yesterday's decision directly contradicts a previous ruling by Attorney General Webb, who had construed the law the other way, and denied the new tax as one on personal property.

The decision took the form of a writ of mandate, requested by Motor Vehicles Director Ingels, to compel Controller Riley to pay a bill of $765 for the printing of veterans' exemption certificates in connection with the new tax.

The supreme court sidestepped the issue raised by "friends of the court" who contended the act was unconstitutional because the legislature had acted without power when it decreed that counties and cities should no longer tax automobiles as personal property.

RULING AFFECTS 3000 IN COUNTY

Approximately 3000 Orange county war veterans will be affected by yesterday's state supreme court ruling cutting out the $100 tax exemption on automobiles of ex-soldiers. These men will pay from $7500 to $8000 in taxes which they did not expect to pay.

The ruling, however, will not wipe out the exemption enjoyed by veterans on county taxes.

This, in brief, was the interpretation of the new situation outlined today by County Assessor James Sleeper.

Last year exemptions were

BUBBLE SCOOPER

Edward Smith doesn't blow bubbles, but he scoops them out of a fountain every day. He works at the central fountain in Rockefeller Center, New York City. Every hour, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., rain or shine, he dips out the soap-like foam with a wire sieve attached to a long pole. Perhaps the great golden statue of Prometheus is as perplexed by his aimless dipping as is the usual visitor. Smith says the reason he dips the bubbles is that they are thought to detract from the beauty of the pool. The cause of the bubbles is something of a mystery, but engineers finally have decided they come from a mixture of automobile exhaust gas and churning water. Smith says in the construction business before he became a bubble scooper. He says the most common question asked him is: "How are they biting today?"

GROWERS NET $2,597,000 UNDER AAA

County Farmers Saved From Price Slumps, Says Wahlberg

Orange county walnut, citrus and sugar beet growers received more than $2,597,000 in 1935 in returns from the AAA marketing and surplus control codes under which they operated, figures released by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg today stated.

The walnut association, representing more than 90 per cent of the tonnage in California, according to Mr. Wahlberg, has estimated that that walnut marketing agreement under the AAA earned the industry in Orange county $513,000. The entire state received about $3,000,000.

It has been variously estimated by citrus leaders, he stated, that the AAA marketing agreement and order for valencia oranges has contributed to Orange county growers about $2,000,000 a year for the past two years, over and above what they would have received without the regulated flow of fruit to the market.

Mr. Wahlberg said that AAA provisions prevented an "utter demoralization of price" this year, in view of the heavy production during the past season.

Sugar beet growers, he estimated, not only received $84,000 in benefit payments, but the basic price of sugar was increased by the lowering of quotas from offshore sources, giving domestic sugar growers a better share of the United States market than ever before.

ORANGE STUDENTS FETED AT POMONA

Entertained as guests of Pomona college for the day, 75 Orange Union High school scholarship winners were feted today on the Claremont campus.

A special program arranged by Howard H. Pattee, director of admissions at Pomona, was featured by a demonstration of the Foucault pendulum, world's largest pendulum.

Other features of an all-day program for the students were class visits, a luncheon in Pray hall, men's refectory, and a campus tour embracing campuses of the associated colleges in Claremont.

Fisher Chapter to Start Tonight on Plans for D. A. V. Eighth Annual Ball

February to Be Month of Party

"Save that date!" That will be the battlecry of members of Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V. after tonight's chapter meeting in the K. C. hall.

For tonight will see the time place setting for the eighth annual D. A. V. military ball which is given as the only money-raising enterprise of the veterans.

Customarily taking place on Washington's birthday, the ball this year may have a different date because of Feb. 22 falling on a Saturday. Hundreds of Orange county friends of the D. A. V. and scores of military celebrities from points throughout the Southland are attracted annually to the ball, which has marked a high point in the county's social schedule since its institution in the days of old St. Ann's Inn.

BRIDGE CONCLUDES MEETING OF SANTA ANA O. E. S.

A round of bridge concluded entertainment at the meeting of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., last night in the Masonic temple.

Prizes went to Mrs. William Sylvester, Mrs. A. C. Prescott, Wilbur Barnard and Richard Cox in auction and to Mrs. Joseph Hersher, Mrs. H. H. Dimmitt, Mr. Dimmitt and Osborne Holmes in contract.

Mrs. Al Adrian and Miss Hattie Bassler were in charge of the arrangements.

Refreshments were served by a committee including Mrs. Mable Barge, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Barnard, Mrs. I. M. Boyle and John Bruns. The officers' table had been decorated with a center star and a ship of good hope for 1936. The committee was Mrs. S. L. Aubin, Mrs. Courtney Chandler, Mrs. Rose Chaff, Mrs. Ellen Smith and Mrs. Bruns.

Honor guests at chapter included Miss Henrietta Bohling, Hermosa chapter, worthy matron, Mrs. H. H. Dimmitt, junior past matron of Santa Ana chapter; Mrs. A. C. Prescott, junior past matron of Border chapter, Douglas; to whom Mrs. Bruns presented a junior past matron's pin. Other guests from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Osborne, Jefferson Ia, Mrs. Margaret Reaer, Centerville, Ia, A. C. Prescott, Douglas, Ariz., and Beryl J. Thatch, Eagle Rock.

SANTA ANANS SIGN FOR PARTS IN FILM BY MOVIE STUDIO

Their next step is Hollywood! Miss Lysa Ayer and Robert Deupree, former Santa Ana Junior college dramatists now residing with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Deupree in Silverado canyon, have been signed by United Artists for parts in Ida Lupino's new picture in Hollywood.

Mr. Deupree and his sister returned recently from New York and other eastern cities, where they presented their version of the famous Oberammergau Passion play. They will appear at the Long Beach Congregational church with this production Sunday, at the First Christian church in Santa Ana Jan. 26.

The title for Miss Lupino's picture has not been selected. The picture has a modern French theme.

TOASTMASTERS CLUB IN PROGRAM SESSION

The toastmasters' section of the Women's club of Orange had a 1 o'clock luncheon and a program Monday, with Mrs. E. S. Ross as toastmaster.

Responses were short stories of famous people. Mrs. G. L. Niles talked on the life of Andrew Carnegie. She told of his humble start in life, and said we are indebted to him for his example that those born poor do not have to remain so in this country. He believed that what one earned beyond a reasonable amount should be given back to the community or to charity.

Mrs. C. C. Bonbrake spoke of the life of Judge Ben Lindsey, who established the juvenile court, saying he had done more for delinquent boys and girls than any one in the United States.

The life of Mark Twain was reviewed by Mrs. W. J. Sutherland, who compared him to Will Rogers in his genius for solving and reflecting life.

One guest was present, Mrs. William Bamrick, Whittier, a daughter of Mrs. G. L. Niles. Mrs. B. D. Stanley, president of the section, presided.

The next meeting will have for its theme Radio. Mrs. H. Johnson will be toastmaster. Mrs. Ben Brubaker, Mrs. C. O. Powell and Mrs. H. F. Taylor will speak. Responses will be, "Pet Words That Are Mispronounced."

EXECUTIVES PLAN EVENTS FOR COMING YEAR

Future events took shape at the executive board meeting of the Julia Lathrop Junior High school Parent-Teacher association Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rufus Bond, 1321 South Van Ness.

Posture will be the subject of meetings until the close of the year. Jan. 26 was set as the date of a pot-luck dinner and evening meeting. Members are to bring their own sandwiches, one dish, and table service. Coffee, cream and sugar will be served by the association.

Student loans and life memberships were discussed. A joint play night for Willard and Lathrop ninth grade students was set for Jan. 17 in the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock.

Announcement was made of the radio talks to begin Feb. 17 at 1 o'clock over KVOE on "Adolescents and Their Development."

Mrs. E. H. Elmsner will make the first address; Mrs. Neil Beisel will speak Feb. 24; Mrs. Rufus Bond, March 2; and Mrs. Hugh Hougham, March 9.

Present at the meeting, besides the hostess, were Mesdames Percy Gammell, Joe Ashland, Frank Cole, Iva Webber, Donald Metz, Leroy Roehm, Harold Walberg, Forrest Menzie, Virgil Clem and Principal H. G. Nelson.

James B. Utt talks to W. C. T. U. on liquor laws.

Outlining liquor laws of California and recent legislation, Assemblyman James B. Utt spoke yesterday afternoon before the Women's Christian Temperance Union in the First Baptist church.

A forum on regulations followed the address, when the speaker answered numerous questions on liquor legislation.

Mrs. Anna Hill of Hemet, a former president, was among guests at the meeting. Mrs. Harry Hayes sang "Not a Sparrow Falseth" and "Charity," accompanied by Marie Havens at the piano.

Mrs. Theo Winbigler, 207 East Ninth street will be hostess to the Frances Willard meeting next month, Feb. 11. Mrs. J. H. Nicholson will preside.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Mina Tidball. Mrs. Louise Satterwhite gave a report on the Flower mission department. Mrs. T. L. Warren gave campaign plans for the centenary funds to be raised by the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Russell Lutes officiated over announcement of reports that have been given in different churches.

THREE CONTRIBUTE AT QUILL PEN MEET

Three members contributed "brain children" at the meeting of the Quill Pen club last evening in the home of Mrs. Jeanette Wells and Miss Verna Wells on Halladay street.

Mrs. Emmett Elliott read from her "Desert Diary." Mrs. Blanche Small Brown read a clever story, and Miss Lella Watson presented a campus short story which showed her familiarity with her subject.

Mrs. Frank Was will entertain the club at its next meeting in her home on Orange avenue. A dessert course was served by the hostesses.

Picturesque Rites Unite Couple

A beautiful and an unusual wedding was solemnized in Laguna Beach Sunday afternoon when Miss Miriam Farrington, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Farrington of Hollywood, and Judge George Krone of Laguna Beach were married in a picturesque eucalyptus grove overlooking the ocean.

Judge Krone, a prominent artist and poet-resident in Laguna and formerly was judge of the municipal court in Pasadena. The bride is a portrait painter in Laguna.

The Rt. Rev. Constantine Wise, bishop of the American Catholic church in California, solemnized the wedding before an unusual altar built by entwined bark on a huge eucalyptus tree trunk.

Mrs. Pearl Farrington gave her daughter away in marriage. Mr. John Farrington, brother of the bride, was best man. The wedding procession started from the roadway and walked through the grove to a tiny altar. Seven candles, pink, blue, and white, surrounded by a lovers' knot fashioned from plant bows of the trees, were on the altar. As the procession approached, Madame Chiquet of Laguna Beach sang "At Dawning." The sparkling Pacific on one side and the rolling hills and canyons on the other provided the setting for the rites.

The bride carried an old-fashioned bouquet of rosemary, "breath of heaven" and sweet-scented bush sprays and wore a simple white gown and a picture hat.

Bishop Clarkson and Madame Chiquet sang the ancient "Wedding Hymn" in a duet and the old custom of Communion was carried out by the guests. After partaking of the wine and bread and wishing the bride and groom health and happiness, the 35 guests present sang "Auld Lang Syne."

Judge and Mrs. Krone will live in his home at 471 Blumont street, Laguna.

SCIENTIFIC PURCHASE TO BE A. A. U. W. PROGRAM THEME

"Why do you buy what you buy?" The problem of scientific consumer research will be discussed by speakers at an open meeting sponsored by the A. A. U. W. Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Mrs. Robert Horn will discuss "Sources of Consumer Education." Miss Ruth Rowland will talk on "Clothing Purchase Problems." "Good Purchase Problems" are to be tackled by Mrs. Vern Bishop.

The book, "Skin Deep," is to be reviewed by Miss Huberteen Kueneman.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grimshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sticker, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gerard, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mrs. George Morgan, Mrs. Ada Nelson, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Grimshaw, assistant treasurer.

J. J. Cottrell opened the meeting with songs and Mrs. Carrie Peck led prayer. Refreshments were served.

Lee Dinner To Be Held Monday

In annual observance of the birthday of Robert E. Lee, Emma Sanson chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be hosts at a southern dinner in the First Christian church educational building at noon Monday, Jan. 20.

Friends of the south as well as members of the association are invited to attend the noon banquet.

Thomas Glenn, instructor at the Santa Ana Junior college, will give a historical address for the occasion. Mrs. Chas. P. Kingrey, state historian of the U. S. C., is to tell personal impressions from the dedication of the national Lee memorial.

Frank Pierce will sing, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong. Miss Virginia Adams is to give piano numbers. Program arrangements have been made by Mrs. George Wells.

Reservations for the dinner are to be made with Mrs. C. E. Price, Mrs. Lillian Prichett or Mrs. Wells by Saturday night.

DOMESTIC ARTS CLUB MEETS IN HOME OF MRS. J. C. SEXTON

Domestic Arts club members were feted by Mrs. J. C. Sexton in her home at 1407 Spurgeon street, yesterday.

Crisp-blossomed cyclamen plants centered the luncheon tables. A pleasant afternoon of needlework followed the luncheon hour.

Sharing the day were Mesdames E. G. Summers, T. E. Williams, W. B. Williams, C. F. Skirvin, C. J. Skirvin, W. B. Martin, Fleetwood Bell, Charles Johnson, Horace Leecing, T. P. Kingrey and a guest, Mrs. W. E. Dixon.

S. S. CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS AT MEET

Officers were elected at the meeting of the Upward and Onward class of the Orange Avenue Christian church Monday night in the bungalow of the church.

Those chosen were Mrs. C. M. Turner, president; Mrs. Etta Pistole, vice president; Jack Sticker, secretary; Mrs. George Morgan, assistant secretary; Mrs. Ada Nelson, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Grimshaw, assistant treasurer.

J. J. Cottrell opened the meeting with songs and Mrs. Carrie Peck led prayer. Refreshments were served.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grimshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sticker, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gerard, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mrs. George Morgan, Mrs. Ada Nelson, Mrs. F. R. Krone, Mrs. E. P. Martin, Mrs. Faye Whitton, Mrs. Albert Lowen, Mrs. Carrie Peck, Mrs. Etta Pistole and J. J. Cottrell.

QUESTORS TO SERVE BIRTHDAY DINNER

Questors of the First Methodist church will serve the birthday dinner of the Dorcas society tomorrow night at the church.

That was the decision of the group at its pot-luck dinner Monday in the dinette of the church, opening a schedule of activities for 1936.

Present were Miss Ethel Coffman, adviser, Miss Thelma Glasscock, Mrs. R. I. Mathews, Mrs. Ruth Davis, Mrs. Alice Tillotson, Ruth Ames, Marjorie Randall, Mary Ruth Faires, Vivian Vale, Olive Schweitzer, Ruth Townsend, Barbara Tillotson, Jessie Faires, Isabel McCormack, Joy Townsley and Betty Pleis.

DAWSON YOUNGS GO TO LOS ANGELES

Appointment of Dawson B. Young as a regular substitute carrier for the Los Angeles post office took the Santa Ana and his family to Wilmar, Calif., yesterday where they will establish their home.

They formerly lived at 1023 West First street and had been residents of Orange county for the past 10 years. He was a substitute carrier for several years here.

A musician, he has played in the SERRA band and other Orange county bands.

They will live at 223 Glendon Way in Wilmar.

CHAS. L. JOHNSONS ARE HOSTS TO CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson entertained their club at an informal party last evening in their home, 421 South Broadway.

Mrs. Johnson served a delicious dessert course.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames Fleetwood Bell, W. E. Martin, F. P. Kingrey, C. F. Skirvin, W. B. Williams, Dr. W. E. Dixon and Mrs. J. C. Sexton, who substituted for Mrs. Gould.

Plans were made to entertain the Southern California Federation Jan. 31. A social tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Maude Hendrie, 1110 West Washington, Friday at 2 o'clock.

Mary Stoddard Parents Should Assume Adult Behavior Attitudes Is Belief of Young Reader

By MARY STODDARD

"Why can't mothers act their age?" queries 16-year-old Marie. "Ever since the 'flapper' craze, and my mother bobbed her hair, started smoking cigarettes and attending and giving cocktail parties our home has gone haywire," she continues.

"My mother isn't an old woman, it is true, about 45, but she won't admit even that and when we are out anywhere she likes to pose as my sister," adds the disgusted Marie.

She wants me to write something that might influence mothers like hers to see themselves as others see them, especially their children.

Mother cannot be condemned for keeping a youthful viewpoint and refusing to be relegated to her room to don a lace cap and knit the rest of her days.

But children do need mothers, and we'll add, fathers, too, who act their age instead of trying to step back into a younger generation. They need counselors and guardians. Children don't turn to 10-year-old Johnny Jones for sympathy in time of trouble. They go home to their parents.

40 Is Not 16 After all, a woman of 40 is not 16, by any method of subtraction. She has had 40 years to garner knowledge. She belongs at the place on the road to which she has journeyed. To run back post-haste to a crossroad where she stood 25 years ago is so silly that her children are bound to feel a certain pang of remorse and disgust.

Children like parents who are fathers and mothers. They like the feeling of security that a protectorate gives them. After all, there are still many fine bulbs on the market. If you have overlooked tulips, they may be planted now to bloom in May. Have you ever tried leucocoryne? It is a lovely blue lily from Africa, growing about 18 inches to two feet, with a cluster of soft blue flowers on each stem.

Once before I mentioned babiana; it is blue, too, and I think comes in a lavender tint.

The tigrids are on the market now, and you'll enjoy some in your garden, I know. They are called the Mexican shell flower.

The other day, I bought a root of dicentra, or bleeding heart. It grows wild in many parts of California, and is a lovely flower. I really don't know how it will like the beach climate, as it's a native of hills and forest glades.

Nearly everything in the garden can stand some fertilizer and a bit of lime at this time. But don't put any lime on your azaleas, rhododendrons, heather, lilacs or Japanese iris, for they are acid-loving plants.

HOME-SCHOOL RELATIONSHIPS ARE P-T. A. SUBJECT

What the home and school can expect of each other were problems which faced the Santa Ana High school Parent-Teacher association at its meeting last night.

E. H. Layton and Principal Lynn Crawford opened the discussion with talks on each side of the subject, appealing for sympathy, cooperation and understanding of problems. Home-work, smoking and companionship of the sexes were among questions which interested the group in a forum discussion.

A hundred peace cards are being sent by the association to President Roosevelt, Mrs. E. H. Elmsner, president, said.

An invitation from the McKinley P. T. A. to attend their meeting Jan. 21 in the afternoon when a speaker from Los Angeles will talk on "Child Behavior" was accepted.

Mrs. Otto Schroeder was in charge of serving refreshments.

ECONOMICS SECTION HAS GAY LUNCHEON AT CASA DEL CAMINO

Ebels fifth household economics section members had a festive luncheon meeting yesterday in the Casa del Camino at Laguna Beach. Mesdames Marguerite Borgmeyer, Severin Schulte, Anna Townner and Mrs. D. A. Harwood shared in hosting.

Mrs. F. F. Mead conducted a brief business session.

Auction bridge prizes for the afternoon's play went to Mrs. D. E. Liggett, who received a pottery fruit dish, also suitable for baking food, and to Mrs. George Raymer, who won a pottery vase.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you think all-American recognition means anything to a college football player after he graduates?

Mrs. E. B. Trago: I certainly think it's soon forgotten. Boys cripple and injure themselves on the football field for the glory of the school; when it's all over, what is it worth? All-American recognition with the price to be paid for it doesn't seem to me to be all worthwhile.

Mrs. Bertram Schuchardt: Indeed I do. Naturally, an athlete, one who plays football, has that interest even when he is an old man. Being in athletics builds a boy's character. While football is a very dangerous game, there's something about it that makes a parent so proud of a son who plays it. If I were rearing a family of small boys, I should insist on their playing football. It makes a man out of them.

Players Have Program in 'The Barn'

After hearing Mrs. M. B. Wellington tell entertainingly of the life of William Dean Howells, Santa Ana Community Players at their Barn meeting last evening saw a group from their number stage "Evening Dress," one of Howells' plays.

In the cast were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fletcher, Mrs. Milo K. Tedstrom, Mrs. Norman Hicks and Burr Shafer.

WILLARD EXHIBIT FEATURES BOOKS AND NEWSPAPERS

The Journalism exhibit this month at Willard Junior High school features newspapers, books, and magazines, depicting old types of printing and make-up.

Especially interesting is an old copy of the Louisville Kentucky Daily Exposition News, published in 1853. Others include The Los Angeles Pacific Weekly Blade, 1888; The El Paso Herald, 1902; The Santa Ana Bulletin, 1902-1903; The San Francisco Chronicle, 1905-1910; and The Nevada City Virginia Chronicle, 1913. A proclamation issued to the voters of Santa Ana urging a bond issue to provide an adequate sewer system for the city is signed by some of Santa Ana's best known early citizens.

Outstanding among the books are "Letters on Slavery," published in 1826; "Works of Shakespeare," 1568; and "The Normal Mental," 1869.

Patricia Rankin, Neel Harper, Martha Grace Powell, and Elaine Marks donated the material for this exhibit which was arranged by Marion Morrill.

APPLICATION TAKES EIGHT MONTHS FROM McADOO TO BOARD

M. F. Stapp, 76, of 1509 North Bush street, wrote to Senator McAdoo last May 7, asking aid in speeding action on his application to the state for an old age pension. He hoped to get prompt results. Yesterday, eight months later, Mr. Stapp's letter arrived at the session of the board of supervisors.

The matter was turned over to Supervisor W. C. Jerome. In the letter Mr. Stapp said, "The local and state authorities pay no attention to an old man." At another place in the letter said, "My wife and I live on $8 a month from the relief agency."

The letter was called to the attention of Byron Curry, head of the county welfare department. Mr. Curry reported that for the past three months Mr. Stapp has been receiving $31 a month, of which the state contributes seven dollars and the county $24. On Feb. 1, he said, this will be increased under a new budget.

DEATH TAKES MRS. FLORENCE CROWTHER

Mrs. Florence Crowther, 81, died in Santa Ana yesterday. She had been a resident here for the past 25 years, coming here from Indiana. Mrs. F. S. McClain and Miss Blanche Crowther, daughters; W. R. Crowther, a son, and Grant Lambert, a brother, survive her in Santa Ana, as well as four other children.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock from Smith and Tutthill chapel parlors. Burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

SHE FOUND LOVE

SANTA ANANS and other Orange county residents who have contributed to the comfort of the unfortunate Mexican babe born into this world New Year's day under unfortunate circumstances, must feel a sense of satisfaction. They have brought joy to the parents and other relatives who were caring for six other children with difficulty and they have made themselves happy in the thought that small as their gifts have been, they have gone toward a human need which always is responded to in a community so generous and big hearted as this.

It is gratifying to know that all the year round there are agencies here, notably the Salvation Army, which constantly give care and thoughtful attention such as this to many needy cases whose identity never reaches the newspapers or the light of day.

In this particular case, it was the work of a widely known Santa Ana woman which started the ball rolling. Refusing the publicity which might be associated with it, she turned the job to Mary Stoddard, of The Journal Miss Stoddard, through the columns of The Journal, has found folks eager to share their blessings with the little child who, like the New Year is pictured, came into the city without even a blanket awaiting her. But she found love and that's what this world needs a lot of.

ELECTRICITY JUST STARTING

PERHAPS the most significant statistic in America today is the one showing we are now using more electric power than ever before.

We think we use electricity more widely than any country on earth—only we don't. The average man in the United States uses only one-third of the amount the average Ontario, Canada, citizen uses.

Dividing the population into the number of kilowatt hours used, each citizen of the United States burns up 1025 hours a year. That's a lot—but the average Canadian uses 2124 hours; the average Norwegian uses 3560 hours. Even little Switzerland beats us.

We're always talking about power; some other countries go ahead and use it. Millions of our farmers don't yet know what flipping a switch means.

If we used as much power, per capita, as some nations, there would not be enough plant-capacity in the country to produce it.

We're a long, long way from being an electrified country yet. But we are awakening to the foolishness of doing things by hand when a cheap, silent, efficient servant can be hired for a few cents a day.

It won't be long before we'll be looking back at the power consumption totals of today and wondering how we ever got along with so little "juice."

ON THE THIRD HAND

WHILE still engaged in helping the U. S. Supreme Court interpret the Constitution on the one hand, and helping corporations defy New Deal laws on the other, the Liberty League undertakes—on the third hand, shall we say?—to help Congress "reassert its constitutional prerogatives and put the nation's house in order."

But whereas the league's efforts to aid the Supreme Court have been quite specific, its program for Congress is rather vague. The leaguers, like the New Dealers, like the Republicans and Democrats and Socialists and non-partisans, are broadly in favor of prosperity, security and liberty. But, while positive that the New Deal is not heading the country toward those objectives, the leaguers are not so positive as to what alternative steps should be taken.

Typical of the 12 points in the league's program are its recommendations for "further study" in respect to social security legislation, for a budget balanced by reducing some of the expenditures, and for expanding domestic and foreign markets for farm products, not through the AAA and reciprocal trade methods but "through policies in keeping with American traditions."

These legislative recommendations are so reminiscent of the ambiguities and negatives emanating from high places a few years ago that one wonders if the league's president really is that same Jonett Shouse who spent four years lampooning President Hoover.

A NEW LOOK AT LIFE

SPEAKER TED CRAIG gave fellow Republicans something to think about in his speech at Fullerton the other night. After there had been the usual addresses on "viewing with alarm" by the party stalwarts and the usual attacks on Democratic New Deal policies, Mr. Craig remarked:

"I know some of you don't like what I am saying. I can tell it by the look on your faces. But putting myself in the place of my unemployed neighbor, I wonder how many votes the speeches tonight would have made for the Republican candidate."

Mr. Craig sounded what we believe is the keynote of the campaign this year from the Republican point of view, a new look at life. He wisely observed that there is a real problem of humanitarian existence to which the Republican party must devote its earnest attention if it expects to unseat the Democratic party.

Regardless of whether the Democratic relief administration has gone too far or not far enough, or whether it has bungled the job and, as its traducers believe, played political football with a sacred trust, the fact remains that SOME effort was made in the right direction at a time when some effort was sorely needed. It is easy now to toss it off with the assertion that people have lost faith in hard work and thrift and economy. To a degree, and in some cases, that may be true. But there are a good many men who would like a chance to restore their faith in hard work and thrift and the golden rule.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

An English journalist sends back a very what-ho essay to his paper on New York celebrities. He says in short he saw very few for the simple reason those he regarded important are seldom in public places i. e. cafes, theaters, night clubs.

O. O. McIntyre

The people one really wants to see in New York, he points out, have the elusiveness of Britain's Barrie. Then he swings this from the ankle: "Of course there are the Shaws, the Augustus Johns who wallow in the pleasant illusion that celebrity is conspicuousness."

Not altogether correct, there is much truth in his surmise. In the past few years there has grown up in the metropolis a "celebrity pack" that runs in full yolk in every phase. If publicity is fame in its finer sense they have achieved it with a bang.

First nights, supper clubs and bar openings have become more or less a standardized crowd. It is possible to write who is present without attending. A statistical mania declares that not 5 per cent measure up to qualification—whatever they are—of celebrity.

Burgess Meredith and Gelett Burgess are going to toss a party and invite all the Burgesses and all the Merediths in the phone book. There are 46 Burgesses and 11 Merediths, the odd 57 varieties, in all. The Queen of the Burgesses, a beauty shop proprietor, has been selected but Burgess Johnson will not be invited unless he sticks another "s" in his front name.

Henry Winston Harper, dean of the graduate school of the University of Texas, has sent me one of the famous red bow ties which have distinguished him for years. He is now in the '70s. It is the only sort of tie he wears, known in the Panhandle as "the genuine Harper red." The color is based on the oxyhemoglobin of the red blood cells in human arterial blood. In other words, the shade of the life giving fluid which stimulated red corpuscles action. One of Dean Harper's ties and a raw hamburger have inspired even a sissy to chase a rough guy up a shade tree.

A visitor to Paris tells of seeing Richard Le Gallienne, the American poet, huddled about a charcoal fire at a table along a lost Paris street—"wrapt in the misty scarpes of far-away dreams." He has been away many years now and has become a gaunt figure with long, snow-white hair. His daughter Eva has become internationally famous. Yet down the last lap of life he prefers a lonely, self-imposed exile.

Two New York head waiters of prominence are Theodore Szarvitz and Theodore Tizze. Frequently their identities are confused because each was once a guardian of the silken entrance ropes in the Ritz dining rooms. And known by his first name. Few head waiters hold the auspicious posts they did during the boom. A number were nipped in the market, as much of their wealth came from tips of brokers they served. Those unable to suffer the tedium of a few customers and fewer tips opened restaurants of their own or went back to their foreign homes. About a half dozen were reputedly worth $500,000.

I saw a distressed Ronald Coleman looking fellow in dinner jacket and chamois gloves last night near the Ritz Tower trying to adjust skid chains to his roadster, and I thought of Kin Hubbard's Ez Pash who had been sent up to the state asylum after trying to wrap up a scythe in a newspaper.

Every writer I know leaps to the trade-lark like a trout to the fly. George Ade expressed the idea during his Chicago days by a reply to a fan letter: "I have got to the point where I no longer crave truth. There is only a little of it and others need it more than I. What I want is to be soothed and flattered as your letter does."

More jittery when excited talk: In Jacksonville, Fla., a real estate man's office is next to a lot where a negro was handling a mule-drawn plow. Finally in high pitched angry wail this through the open window: "Mule, you is the by damndest mule I ever see in my born days. Why you ain't no more fitten to be a mule in spite of all hell."

Fascism in this country will not come in as a parade with flying banners, but will creep in on us and will be well entrenched when the looked-for leader—some Huey Long the second—will arrive.—Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes, noted sociologist.

They say that the country is all right because bank deposits total $60,000,000,000. That's a lie. There isn't that much money. There isn't $10,000,000,000 in usable money.—Alfred Lawson, advocate of direct credit system.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The AAA decision blotted from sight a signal court victory won by the New Deal in its fierce struggle with utilities over enforcement of the holding company act.

Several hours after the supreme court had blasted the farm act, Justice Jennings Bailey of the District of Columbia supreme court handed down a decision granting the government's plea to bar utilities from bringing suits against the holding company act in Washington.

The effect of this ruling is to give the government the full right of way to push before the supreme court the case it has selected to test the constitutionality of the law. This is a suit brought in New York by the securities and exchange commission against Electric Bond and Share.

Seven suits filed by utilities were directly affected by Justice Bailey's decision, and more than 50 others were waiting to be filed had he held against the government. So important was the action considered by the administration that Attorney General Cummings personally argued the government's case before the court.

Justice said the government's case before the court was "If only the decision had come down a day or two later, then we could have got the right publicity for it."

"Pretty good, Steve, but it's too dry. Take it out and put some humor in it." So Steve did; after which it passed Presidential muster—except for Marvin McIntyre, except White House secretary, who thought it was "lousy."

WHITE HOUSE SNUB Probably the most unusual orders ever sent a diplomatic representative to a friendly government have just been received by Chaffar Khan Djalal, Iranian (Persian) Minister, recalled after being handcuffed on a traffic charge by Elkton, Md., police.

Because the Shah of Persia was displeased at Secretary Cordell Hull's lukewarm apologies, he first ordered his minister home. But now the Shah has sent a second order: Until he actually leaves Washington, Minister Djalal shall attend no function at the White House. The Shah will have nothing to do with a President who does not respect the diplomatic sanctity of his minister.

Under international law, a minister represents his president or sovereign personally, and the Shah has taken the arrest of Djalal as an insult to his own person.

Note.—The irony of it all is that although Minister Djalal is to be promoted, he, and especially his wife, hate to leave Washington.

ROOSEVELT STORK The President is about to increase his claim on the title "grandfather."

Sarah Roosevelt, 3-year-old daughter of James, the President's eldest son, will soon have a baby brother or sister—she hopes the former.

ANTI-NEW DEALER Miss Cora Rubin, able, handsome secretary to Senator William E. Borah, does not like New Dealers and makes no bones about it. A reporter, knowing her antipathy, asked her "how come?" she permitted the name of "Mike Strauss" to remain scratched on the door of Borah's office.

"Oh," said Miss Rubin, unconcerned, "he is a newspaperman who did that several years ago. Fools must..."

"But he isn't a newspaperman any more. Hasn't been for a long time. He is now publicity man for the Public Works administration."

"What?" shouted Miss Rubin. "The PWA, a New Dealer? Why, the idea having his name on our door!"

With that she leaped up, dashed to the door, vigorously scribbled the name with a heavy black pencil until it was completely obliterated.

"There," she remarked decisively, "at least no one will be able to read it any more."

What they say is that a good refrigerator of six cubic feet food space consumes in one month 50 kilowatt-hours of electricity or 900 pounds of ice. Where ice is 60 cents a hundred and electricity 3.5 cents a kilowatt-hour, as in Washington, the ice would cost $5.40, the electricity $1.75... C. session closed, after the Huey Long filibuster Garner brought his gavel down with the words, "The hour of 12 o'clock having arrived, the senate is adjourned." But his language was corrected for the Record to read, "The hour of 12 o'clock having arrived, pursuant to house concurrent resolution No. 40, the senate stands adjourned sine die." The record also corrects any impropriety. When Vice President Tom Marshall once adjourned a session with the words "sine die" instead of "sine die" indicating that he thought it had been a "godless session," official reporters refused to report the remark and the disallowed the pun and made the record proper... F. V. R., Coraopolis, Penna.—The six dams included in TVA plans are in order, from upstream down—Norris, Chickamauga, Guntersville, Wheeler, Wilson (built during the war), and Pickwick. Y.—President Roosevelt did quote Terrence in his address to congress, but the quotation came via Prof. Josiah Royce. Roosevelt said, as part of the Royce quote, "Let nothing human be wholly alien to you." This was a variant of the Terrence line, "Homo sum. Humani nil a me alienum puto." or "I am a man. I consider nothing human as alien to me."

In view of the fact that Santa Ana has been having some little trouble over the "family cow" question, it will be of interest to know how they have disposed of the matter in Pasadena. It seems that over there one can keep a cow, all right, under proper restrictions, or even two cows.

The business men of the city went on record last night as favoring a charter or commission form of government for Santa Ana, and a committee was appointed to investigate and report to the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association. At best it will be two years before the city can change its form of government, but the businessmen feel that now is the time to start the movement.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Presidency Not Actually 'Man Killing' Job

WOODROW WILSON said that the presidency is a "man-killing job." This notion has grown up into something of a myth. Various proposals have been put forward, designed to lighten the burdens which crush the chief executive under appalling weight.

Of course this "man-killing" notion of the Presidency is mostly nonsense.

Thirty-one different men have occupied the White House. Three of them died in office, not counting the three who were assassinated.

The average age of the Presidents at inauguration has been 54.3 years. Three deaths out of 31 men in their middle 50's, is not a high mortality rate. Any group of men, chosen from any profession or walk of life, starting on a four-years' job at 54 years of age, would likely show a higher death rate, in the natural course of things.

The Grim Reaper seems to be particularly sparing of the Presidents in their "man-killing" job.

Nor can it be said that their arduous duties break them down so that they die soon after leaving office. Omitting the six who died in office, the average age at death of the presidents has been 70.7 years.

LIKES EDITORIAL

Editor The Journal: It has been some time since I have read a better editorial than the one in one of your recent issues captioned "Don't Rock the Boat." Give us some more like this. Congratulations to you and the writer referred to. In these trying times we need such editorials. Yours truly,

J. E. HOBLIT.

Editor's Note.—The editorial referred to was written by C. F. (Skinny) Skirvin. We are certain Mr. Skirvin will be glad to do an encore.

NOT COURAGE, PLAIN DUTY

Editor, The Journal: A writer in tonight's Journal admires your courageous stand on issues of the day. I don't think you are especially courageous. It shouldn't require courage to be honest and straightforward. If you are going to publish a newspaper, naturally we expect you to do just that sort of thing. You can't publish a successful newspaper, it seems to me, without being frank and honest with your readers. If you are anything else, you are not a newspaper, according to my view of it. You deserve no special praise for doing your duty. You would deserve a lot of condemnation if you failed to.

A HOUSEWIFE.

BY THE FIRESIDE

Editor, The Journal: It is by a fireside on a quiet evening when a day's work is behind him, that a man may sit and enjoy himself to the fullest extent. There wells up within him a feeling of security, of warmth and of self-satisfaction that cannot be described, but must be felt by oneself. Vision of earlier days comes and goes as if on a screen. Some moments happy, others sad. Some moments filled with an undecipherable ecstasy as he remembers a dawn over the mountains, a sunset over the ocean, or an evening by a fireside.

Such are the memories of a man who has lived his life. Moments of happiness; moments of sorrow, all of them worth living, some of them worth leaving out. Ideas of stupendous proportion, ideas that have revolutionized the world have been born by a fireside. Masterpieces of philosophy, gems of literature, beautiful pieces of music, the result of momentous ideas brought to mind by the crackling embers of a dying fire.

A FIRESIDE SITTER.

HE LIKES US

Editor, The Journal: A solicitor of yours called by several days ago and asked that we except The Journal on trial for 10 days, so that we could become acquainted with it.

I have received The Journal two days; and say, but so far I like it.

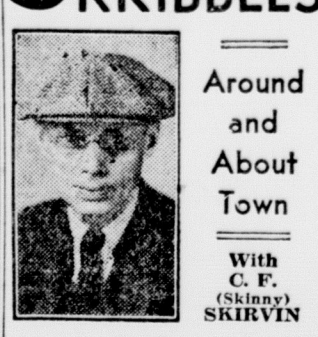

Your editorial about the supreme court decision sounds like sound reasoning. I am now registered as a Republican and most of my relatives are too, and we are pretty well of the opinion that the Republicans are using every method under the sun to discredit the present administration. They have tried hard to improve conditions and I feel that the Republican party would like nothing better than to have them fail miserably so that they would have plenty of ammunition in the coming election.

I have been a subscriber to the Register for years and liked its attitude toward the present administration. But under the new management I see that it is getting far from critical.

After 10 days' trial I like The Journal as well as I think I will, I shall become a subscriber. Yours very truly,

A PEOPLES' COLUMN FAN.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Looks like a big year. The chamber of commerce is planning a community dinner for the purpose of introducing the year's work with the proper enthusiasm, setting and object. Said to be at told me about it. Said to be at the American Legion hall on the evening of Jan. 21, not later than 6:45, because they intended to start the food procession at that time, and he thought it might do me some good. Going to have 400 people there to indicate a community spirit which meant no surrender. God has done almost everything for Orange county. Now let's do something for God. Don't take this as an evangelist meeting. It's an opportunity to merge into a forward movement with the only organization we have to assist civic progression. You can't invest 75 cents in a better cause.

There is considerable controversy about a surplus walnut crop, and what to do about it. Well, you could let the squirrels settle it.

Affliction often changes one's perspective of life. So long as the human body is free from pain little appreciation is given to the state of good health. But when affliction comes it's different. So a friend who was suffering from arthritis advised me not to complain so long as I had plenty to eat and something to wear. He parted with three teeth before he volunteered this philosophy of life, and intended to increase his wisdom by letting go of a few more. By that process he hopes to keep more trouble away from his door.

And in the meantime, like the banana song, we have no rain.

This is the month the banks elect directors and officers, lodges advance their officials, merchants take inventories, when good resolutions go to the bow-wow, and my interest comes due. I knew there was a place for me in this picture.

Reminded with Billy Smith about how valuable some men are and how worthless others, but we agreed not to mention names. This paragraph goes into the unsolved crossword puzzle class. It's interesting for what it does not reveal.

Bayard Baker comes down the street with a bunch of rope and a small mouse. He predicted a dry winter, and it was his opinion the mouse, on account of its size, belonged to some church, but refused to venture the denomination.

Park Roper gave a spelling test. Park noticed that one of the bread firms had abbreviated and emasculated the word "neighborhood" to "naborhood" and wanted to know "how come?" Why, that was easy. The depression did it. When you save three letters that's conservation, or phonetic, or make the longest acquaintance of the car forced the condensation.

Time out for a service club meeting. I'll be back after they get my 60 cents.

Pete Colanichick offered to contribute to the return of prosperity by inducing me to come home. Well, it would help, but the invitation was refused by the party who was to become the beneficiary.

Invited to go hunting, which reminded me that the game bird of today has about the same chance of continuing an existence, as a Republican postmaster under a Democratic administration.

The fellow who refused to drink coffee because he said it would keep him awake all night, should have sent the java to the night watchman. I wouldn't say night policeman, because I meet too many of them during the day.

When Ike Fields calls to me from a distance, and reply is made from a similarly protected area, Earl Pfeiffer wants to know how we can start a conversation and understand each other by the simple movement of the lips. Earl, it takes a long acquaintance and peculiar technique to get those messages over. Sometime when you have leisure Ike and I will take you in, and when we say "in" we mean it.

Milburn Harvey took me over to the Fullerton Republican meeting and brought me home. Haven't had time yet to decide whether it did me any good or not, but more than a hundred other fellows acted like they got a lot of benefit. It's rather difficult for an old-timer who marched in the Blaine campaign, before he could vote, and followed through all the years, to get unduly excited over any political meeting, irrespective of its partisanship. But it's a good thing to keep informed and investigate, and discard every proposition that has for its purpose, whether exposed or concealed, the dynamiting of our established governmental foundations.
